United States Speedily Rejects Red Protest

Washington (AP)—The United States Tuesday night speedily rejected a Soviet protest against the U.S. order confining Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to Manhattan during his United Nations visit.

The State Department sent its firmly-worded reply by messenger to the Soviet Embassy within hours after Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov had presented the Russian complaint. Moscow had termed the U.S. move an unfriendly act designed to hinder the work of the Soviet delegation at the U.N. General Assembly session starting Sept. 20.

The U.S. note declared the restriction was "in strict fulfillment of the obligations" which the U.S. government has to insure the safety of U.N. delegates. It said its action will assure to Khrushchev "the unhindered fulfillment of his mission to the United Nations."

Khrushchev's presence in New York, the U.S. note added, "relates solely and directly to his mission to the U.N. General Assembly."

Security Requirment

And it said the necessary security measures "include the requirement that Mr. Khrushchev reside in closest convenient proximity to the headquarters of the United Nations."

The U.S. security measures "can in no way be considered to interfere with what is called . . . the normal work of the Soviet delegation to the 15th session of the General Assembly," it said.

"Travel beyond the limits of Manhattan Island is clearly not essential to the normal function of a delegation to a session of the U.N. General Assembly."

The Soviet government, in its protest, had demanded that Khrushchev be allowed to move to and from Russian diplomatic headquarters in a big mansion at Glen Cove, Long Island.

Due In N.Y. Monday

Khrushchev, due to arrive in New York Monday aboard a ship also bearing other European Communist bloc leaders, had wanted to be allowed to use the Glen Cove estate rather than take up quarters in the city. Khrushchev is coming to New York as head of the Russian delegation.

Plans are being made for him to stay at the quarters of the Soviet mission to the United Nations, which are on Manhattan Island a few blocks away from U.N. headquarters.

The precautions, ordered Saturday, were described as vital to protect Khrushchev in the face of expected anti-Communist pickets and demonstrations when he arrives as a self-invited guest.

These authorities dismissed Khrushchev's complaint, delivered by Ambassador Menshikov, as Kremlin propaganda aimed at heightening world interest in his visit.

Only two hours earlier, the State Department had toughened its attitude by announcing the Soviet leader would not be permitted to visit anywhere outside Manhattan to accept any invitation for public appearances.

The Soviet Embassy had claimed numerous such invitations had been sent to Khrushchev as he sailed toward New York aboard the liner Baltika.

In sharp contrast, the State Department ruled out—for the time being at least—any move to curtail travels by 3 other controversial leaders—Cuba's Fidel Castro, President Tito of Yugoslavia and Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Demo Senator, Hennings, Dies

Sen. Thomas C. Hennings

Washington (AP)—Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., D-Mo., died Tuesday at his home here. He was 57.

Office aides of the Missouri Senator said he never had completely recovered from an operation last May.

Hennings was unable to attend the post-convention session of Congress.

Hennings had been released from a hospital only a short time before his death.

Operated On

He was operated on at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., last spring for what aides said at the time was removal of an abdominal obstruction.

Hennings, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, served in the House from 1935 to 1941 and was elected to the Senate in 1950. He was re-elected in 1956.

After returning to Washington from Rochester, he was asked by his doctors not to participate in the remainder of that session of Congress but to rest in his apartment.

On July 9, he was taken to a Washington hospital suffering from what an assistant said was a virus infection.

Resigned

On his doctor's advice, Hennings resigned as a Missouri delegate-at-large to the 1960 Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

Hennings held several top positions in the Senate. In addition to being chairman of the important Senate Rules Committee he was secretary of the Democratic Conference, one of 3 elective posts in the Senate Democratic organization.

He also was a member of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee and the Democratic Steering Committee and chairman of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittees on Constitutional Rights, Juvenile Delinquency and Federal Penitentiaries and Reformatories.

Hennings was married to Elizabeth Stallcup and had two daughters, Sue McCandless and Karla Hennings.

He was a track star while attending Cornell University, and became head track coach at Washington University while attending law school there from 1924 to 1926.

He practiced law in St. Louis until his election to the Senate.

Sen. Hennings was in Lincoln frequently during 1952 when he served as vice chairman of the Truman Missouri Basin Commission, which was headed by the late James E. Lawrence, editor of The Lincoln Star.

Discoverer 15 Goes In Orbit

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (UPI) —The United States hurled a Discoverer satellite into orbit Tuesday, hoping for a third straight success in tests to develop a capsule capable of returning anything from a monkey to secret spy pictures from orbit.

A 300-pound capsule — carrying no life or cameras this time — is due to be returned to earth inside a 150-by-50 mile recovery area near Hawaii Wednesday if everything works as well on No. 15 as it did on the past two launches.

That gold-plated capsule, however, is scheduled soon to carry a small Rhesus monkey into orbit, probably on shot No. 17. Despite the Soviet's success in recovering two dogs and other animals, Air Force officials said they planned to "proceed as scheduled and not be rushed by what the Russians are doing."

In addition to carrying animals, the capsule in the Discoverer program is also developing a way for intelligence agencies of this country to return high grade pictures from orbit.

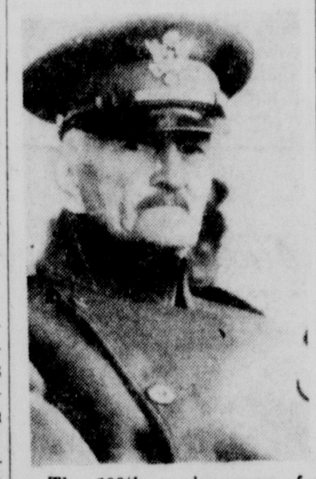

The capsule would not always be used to get pictures back since the Samos Satellite would be equipped with gear to transmit photos back to earth such as used in the T Tiros weather satellite.

But if agents wanted a closer look at anything the satellite had seen, they could recall the capsule with its clearer pictures.

The gleaming white Dicoverer arched from the launch pad at this seaside base at 3:14 p.m. PDT (4:14 p.m. CST) disappearing into a cloud bank. Two hours later the Air Force announced the 1700-pound satellite was in orbit, whipping over the poles of the earth at 18,000 miles an hour.

Its swing around the earth took 94.24 minutes and carried the 19-foot long satellite from 472 miles away from the earth to as close as 130 miles. This satellite joined two others still in orbit after returning their capsules to earth.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Gen. John J. Pershing (pictured) was celebrated in Lincoln as well as in Washington and a number of other places across the U.S. Tuesday. Stories and pictures on Page 8.

Quick Completion For Interstate Not Likely

By Betty Person

Unless Nebraska has an extremely warm, dry and long fall season, prospects are "very dim" that the Interstate Highway between Lincoln and Omaha will be completed by the end of 1960.

That was the word Tuesday from Acting Deputy State Engineer G. C. Strobel.

The Highway Department had been working in high gear to complete the superhighway between the two cities this year, but August's wet weather has practically "wrecked those efforts," he said.

Unusually frequent rainfall —occurring every few days— has delayed grading work which in turn holds up the paving work which must be done before frost.

"The contractors have done very good work and we can't blame them," Strobel said, "but they just can't grade in mud."

Work on the Interstate bridge across the Platte River is "progressing very nicely," Strobel said.

There have been a "few delays due to high water," he said, "but the bridge is coming right along."

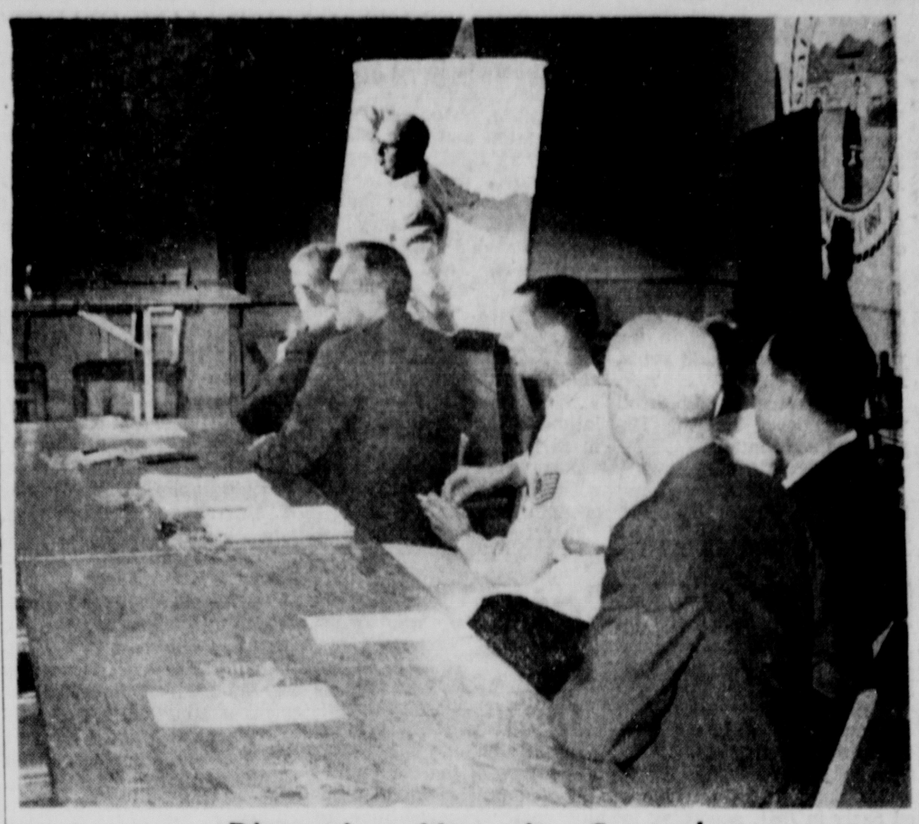

The "worst bottleneck" on the highway is a fill area on the west side of the river, he continued.

Again, the weather is responsible.

Strobel said they have to let the fill settle for 90 days before it can be paved—and they have not yet been able to get the fill in—so this, in itself, could hold up the project.

Discussing Mosquito Control

LAFB medical group commander, Col. John R. Grunwell, explains where the mosquitoes have come from that plague base personnel. Legislation Suggested For Mosquito Control

. . . Law Could Give City, County Power To Act

By Bill Anderson

City Atty. Ralph Nelson Tuesday night offered what could possibly be an alternate answer to Lincoln's mosquito problem.

Instead of setting up a mosquito control district thereby creating another governmental subdivision, Nelson advocated:

Introducing a bill in the next session of the Legislature that would authorize the city and county to abate mosquitoes. The legislation would make provisions for powers of eminent domain and right-of-way.

Nelson, speaking at a Junior Chamber of Commerce public forum on the mosquito problem, said:

Existing Units Could Act

"There is no reason to create another governmental subdivision (mosquito control district) when existing bodies could do the work, if they were granted statutory permission."

Nelson said city and county co-operation could solve in future years what has been termed this summer as an "emergency" mosquito situation.

The Jaycees pledged to continue study of the problem and to aid any citizens interested in drafting action.

Theo A. Filipi, director of the sanitation division, State Department of Health, said.

"You're sitting on a keg of dynamite in Lincoln. I hope you don't have to kill a little boy with encephalitis before something is done."

Fpipi asked, "You've got a good city-county health department. What powers have you given them?"

Suggests Legislation

Filipi asked, "You've got a legislation might be a more workable answer.

Discussion centered mainly around possible formation of a mosquito control district under Nebraska law.

Such a district would be able to levy taxes for its work and have the right to drain and spray areas on private property.

This is what city and county officials have said they cannot do under present law.

Bill Rapp, sanitation division entomologist, said if a mosquito district were formed, it would have to include most of the marshy area along Salt Creek in the western part of the city and north to the swampy spots near Lincoln Air Force Base.

Rapp said a complete survey would have to be made to determine boundaries.

Low Values Cited

Dr. George Underwood, City-County Health Department director, pointed out taxes from the area involved might not be enough for the work due to low evaluations on the swampy land.

The district enabling act passed in 1957 calls for a limit of one mill on property.

Dr. Underwood said the Interstate Highway will compound drainage problems after it is completed and the mosquito problem may worsen.

He said that if the swampy areas were drained, it would benefit the county by raising land values.

He also suggested the recreational possibility that could arise if, for instance, a lake could be formed by deepening a central area and using the soil to fill in marshy spots nearby.

Floridian Speaks

John Biedler, director of the Indian River Mosquito Abatement District at Vero Beach, Fla., discussed methods of mosquito control:

"There is no magic way to get rid of mosquitoes," he said. "But the best control methods must include spraying for adults, larvaciding and source reduction — the most important."

Col. John R. Grunwell, commander of the LAFB 818th Medical Group, urged permanent steps. He said the base has had to keep a sprayer going 24 hours a day this summer to keep the mosquitoes down.

'Millions Come In'

"We control mosquitoes on breeding areas on and around the perimiter of the base," he said. "But millions come from the marshy area to the southeast."

Jaycee President Donn Davis explained the procedure needed to form a mosquito abatement district. Dr. Gresham Yeager, chairman of the Jaycees' health committee, was moderator for the program.

Others attending were Mayor Pat Boyles, Col. William H. Working, base commander; Robert Roselle, University of Nebraska entomologist and Les Sanger of the City-County Health Dept. Mrs. Clifford Kempston, the mother whose baby was hospitalized, was there also.

Lumumba Backed By Parliament

OBSERVERS SAY 'NO QUORUM'

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP) —The Congolese parliament, with a majority of its members absent, voted Tuesday night that Patrice Lumumba should run the government with full powers. As with most recent Congo maneuverings, this apparently clarified nothing in the anarchic situation.

But the action was hailed by Lumumba as legal and as a mandate to "arrest any person causing trouble."

Such trouble-makers in Lumumba's view presumably include President Joseph Kasavubu and his supporters who have formed a new government to supplant the Lumumba regime.

"I did not ask for full powers," Lumumba declared. "It is the parliament which has offered it because of the gravity of the situation."

"Full powers do not mean that we will assassinate everybody tonight," said Anicet Kashamura, Lumumba's minister of information.

Despite the fact the official vote count did not tally with the number of members present and newsmen's counts showed a quorum to be lacking, the vote represented, at least temoprarily, another victory for Lumumba and his leftward slide into the Soviet bloc.

Most opposition members refused to show up for the session.

Helmeted Congolese army troops with rifles kept watch over the proceedings and machine guns were set up in the lobby.

The vote followed a speech by Lumumba, who was fired as premier by President Kasavubu 8 days ago but has refused to quit.

Lumumba accused Kasavubu of fomenting an army rising and credited himself with preventing a civil war he said was on the point of breaking out earlier when he was arrested by Kasavubu supporters.

"I was to be assassinated," Lumumba said. He said that when the army found out about his arrest, it was ready to descend on the city and kill all the whites."

"War was about to break out. I stopped it," he shouted.

Boston Mayor Tops Furcolo In Primary

...OTHER CONTESTS GENERALLY 'QUIET'

By The Associated Press

Mayor Thomas O'Connor of Springfield Tuesday won the Democratic nomination for Senator, defeating Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo.

Furcolo conceded defeat before half the precincts were counted.

O'Connor held a solid margin over Furcolo throughout the state. Complete, unofficial returns in Boston gave the youthful mayor 100,383 votes, Furcolo 79,906.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

First Of Nine

Massachusetts was among the first to report of the 9 states holding primaries Tuesday. Others included Arizona, Colorado, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

A 3-way fight developed in the 7-man contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Secretary of State Joseph D. Ward, Endicott Peabody, and former Atty. Gen. Frances E. Kelly led the pack.

Lt. Gov. Robert F. Murphy and 3 other candidates, including state treasurer John F. Kennedy of Canton—no relation to the Senator, trailed in early returns.

John A. Volpe was unopposed for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

In Wisconsin, Gov. Gaylord Nelson appeared about even with his Republican rival, former state chairman Philip G. Kuehn, in early primary returns.

Both were running unopposed in what amounted to a popularity contest. Voting was light.

Gov. Wesley Powell, with returns nearly complete, apparently won a close victory over former Gov. Hugh Gregg in the New Hampshire Republican gubernatorial primary.

Powell defeated Gregg by 400 votes in the 1958 primary.

Meanwhile, Sen. Styles Bridges and Reps. Chester E. Merrow and Perkins Bass, veteran GOP office holders, all won renomination handily.

Easy Lead

Former Democratic National Committeeman Bernard L. Boutin rolled up a commanding lead over two rivals for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

In Vermont, Gov. Robert Stafford won the Republican nomination for his state's lone seat in the House of Representatives. He held a wide margin over State Rep. Robert T. Gannett of Brattleboro in unofficial returns.

Rep. William H. Meyer, first Democrat to represent Vermont in more than 100 years, won renomination to oppose Stafford in November. Dairyman Fred L. Richmond of Charlotte conceded defeat early in the evening.

In the 4-way Republican gubernatorial race, Lt. Gov. Robert S. Babcock held a narrow lead over attorney Luke Crispe.

Party Test

Minnesota's voting was regarded mainly as a test of party strength. The turnout was expected to be less than half the eligible voters.

Early returns gave Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, unopposed for renomination as a Democrat, about a two-to-one margin over the top man in the Republican primary, Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson of Minneapolis. Peterson was far ahead of his opponent Malcolm Williams.

Democratic Gov. Orville Freeman, seeking a fourth term, led by better than 7-to-one over his opponent, Balmont Tudisco, St. Paul free lance artist.

Elmer L. Anderson of St. Paul was unopposed for the Republican nomination for governor.

Mrs. Coya Knutson, seeking the ninth district congressional seat she lost in 1958, trailed State Sen. Roy Wiseth, endorsed by the Democratic organization, in early primary returns.

Rep. Odin Langen, the GOP incumbent, had only token opposition.

Western Getting $90,000 Sewer System

Another few weeks should find residents of Western using a new $90,000 sewer system, which includes a sewage disposal plant. Mayor Leon W. Haddix said the system possibly would have been in operation now except for delays encountered in obtaining right-of-way at a railroad crossing. (Star Staff Photo)

Polaris Shot Fizzles Out

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — A Polaris missile veered out of control and plunged into the Atlantic seconds after it was launched from a submerged submarine Tuesday. The failure dealt the program a jolt only a few weeks before its operational deadline.

The nuclear submarine Patrick Henry launched the missile from beneath the gulf stream about 30 miles off Cape Canaveral. This is the same area from which the first Polaris sub, the George Washington, successfully fired 3 of 4 missiles in midsummer.

The failure was not visible to shore observers. But reports from a tracking ship said the 28-foot missile popped to the surface on a column of compressed air and immediately spiraled out of control.

It plowed back into the water and broke apart, a large section flying several feet farther before again striking the ocean.

One official said the failure will not necessarily delay the program. But he indicated more malfunctions in the Patrick Henry series could mean trouble.

Misplaced Digit

Claremore, Okla. (AP)—Mayor James Hammett dialed what he thought was Oklahoma City. But while direct dialing he twirled one wrong digit. A woman in Hamilton, Ont., answered the phone.

BETTINA WILL INHERIT VILLA AND $280,000

London (UPI)—The beautiful French model who shared the late Aly Khan's life up to the moment of his fatal injury in an auto accident was left a wealthy woman, his will showed Tuesday.

Bettina

The international playboy and diplomat bequeathed $280,000 and a villa in Chantilly, France to Bettina, a 35-year-old woman whose fame in the fashion world was such that a blouse has been named for her.

The model acted as hostess for the Aly Khan at his home in Paris. After his death, his family accorded her the rights and rank of widow.

She was sitting by his side when his sports car collided head-on with another auto in Paris May 12. He died on his way to the hospital. She suffered a minor head injury.

After gifts to friends and servants, he left two-thirds of his remaining holdings to his sons, Karim Aga Khan and Amyn Aga Khan, and his daughter Yasmin, born during his marriage to actress Rita Hayworth.

Trucks Again Use U.S. 6

Heavy trucks began using U.S. 6 between Lincoln and Omaha again Tuesday after a two-week ban.

A "shoefly" has been completed around the sagging Camp Creek Bridge between Waverly and Greenwood, the State Safety Patrol said Tuesday.

Completion of the temporary wooden bridge and its crushed-rock access road permitted official re-opening of U.S. 6 between Lincoln and Omaha to heavy truck traffic.

Speed limit on the short detour is 25 mph.

The 42-year-old permanent bridge was closed to heavy trucks August 28 after a pier settled, causing a large dip in the road bed.

Barrymore Asks Aid Of Court To Get Ring

Rome (AP) — Actor John Barrymore Jr., has asked the Rome Civil Tribunal to order Italian actress Georgia Moll to give back his engagement ring.

Barrymore filed the petition a week after police were called to Miss Moll's apartment building because of a 5 a.m. disturbance. Police said Barrymore was pounding on Miss Moll's door and shouting, "I want my ring back."

Barrymore, 28, and the pretty Miss Moll were engaged for several months last year.

Early 1961 Date Slated For Survey Of Centers

A survey of Lincoln's 4 community centers, to be financed by the Woods Charitable Fund, will be conducted early in 1961, according to Louis B. Finkelstein, president of the Lincoln Community Council.

Milton A. Brown of the National Federation of Settlements and Neighborhood Centers will be in Lincoln in early November for preliminary planning of the study.

Thomas M. Davies, chairman of the council's study committee which recommended the survey, said it would be conducted early in 1961 so that the findings would be available to the Community Chest Budget Committee next spring.

Recommendation

The study committee of the council recommended last spring that such a survey be conducted, and the recommendation was approved by the Council executive committee as well as representatives of all 4 community centers; Belmont, Malone, Ren Pentzer Park, and Southwest. Representatives of the centers also served on the study committees.

The purpose of the survey, according to Davies, is to gain an impartial view of the needs of the various neighborhoods and to make certain the 4 centers are providing the best service possible.

He emphasized that the study is definitely not intended as a criticism of what the centers might be doing at the present.

According to the National Federation of Settlements and Neighborhood Centers study, basic information of population, housing, delinquency, school registration, employment, etc., will be included in the study.

Members of the council study committee on community centers, in addition to Davies, are Pat Ash, Mrs. William Brill and Mrs. Harry Seward, membership-at-large; Chester A. Dill, and Rev. Ralph Belknapp, representing Belmon Center; Miss Dorothy Pile and Bernard Heelan, representing Southwest Center; James L. Cox and Rev. Peter Raible, representing Malone Center; and Randy Streeton and Charles Thorne, representing Pentzer Park Center.

ST. LOUIS MOB BLOCKS JACK FOR SOMETIME

St. Louis (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy was held captive in his campaign plane for about 15 minutes Tuesday night when a surging unruly mob of admirers closed around the craft when it landed at St. Louis airport.

In the wildest demonstration of the presidential campaign, Kennedy admirers swarmed across the airport ramp and completely engulfed his plane when it came to a stop.

Fighting his way through the crowd, Sen. Stuart Symington, (D-Mo) mounted the steps of the plane and with a loud speaker at his mouth, pleaded for the unruly admirers to make a path through which Kennedy could pass to a plane landing ramp where he was scheduled to make a brief speech.

The spectators refused to budge. They shouted "we want Kennedy." Staff members attempted timidly to push their way into the howling, shrieking mob.

For 15 minutes Kennedy was a captive in his own plane, unable to make his way down the steps because the few police on hand feared he might suffer bodily harm from the pushing, almost hysterical members of the crowd.

Eventually police succeeded in clearing a small pathway. Kennedy appeared at the top of the plane steps. He was smiling and seemingly unconcerned with the idea that he might have been bruised by passage through the spectators sardined at the bottom of the steps.

Kennedy's Doctor To Aid Campaign

Boston (AP) — A 78-year-old Boston physician who brought Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy and all 8 of his brothers and sisters into the world, Tuesday was named head of the national committee of "Doctors for Kennedy."

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy told newsmen during a brief stop at Boston's airport that Dr. Frederick L. Good of Boston will lead the doctors' group.

Nixon Unworried About 'Propeller'

Boise, Idaho (AP) — One engine of his airplane went out but the other 3 held good and Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew from Portland, Ore., to Boise, Idaho, Tuesday night without incident.

He wasn't concerned at all, said it was the sixth time it had happened to him since he became vice president.

After the plane landed safely—10 minutes ahead of schedule—Nixon shook hands with the pilot, Perry Thomas, and told him that "it was a darn good job."

Nixon told reporters he was instantly aware when the left inboard engine of the chartered DC6B lost power and the propeller was feathered one half hour after taking off from Portland, about 500 miles away.

The control tower at Boise airport alerted police and fire department crews and there were some tense moments at the airport here as emergency vehicles had trouble getting through.

Savoy Hotel At Grand Island Is Damaged By Fire

Grand Island (AP) — A linen locker, one storeroom and an apartment were badly damaged by a fire at the upstairs Savoy Hotel Tuesday.

The fire apparently started in the linen locker and burned for some time before firemen were called. The blaze died down once, then flared up again but firemen quickly got it under control.

No one was injured.

—EASTERN CITY AREAS FORGING AHEAD, SAYS RESEARCHER—

Census Changes Not Peculiar To Nebraska

Reviewing the preliminary figures of the 1960 Census of Population, Dr. Edgar Z. Palmer, University of Nebraska's business researcher, reported Wednesday that most of the factors in the population change are nationwide and not peculiar to Nebraska.

He drew these observations about the population trend in Nebraska.

1. "The city areas in eastern Nebraska, including Omaha, Lincoln, Fremont, Norfolk, Columbus, and a band extending westward to Holdrege, are forging ahead faster than before. It does not, however, include Hastings or Grand Island, which, although increasing in population, did so at a reduced rate."

2. "The western cities, such as Kearney, North Platte, McCook, Lexington, Alliance, and Scottsbluff, and their areas, slowed up considerably in their rates of growth in the 1950's."

3. "The Sand Hills region, while continuing to lose population, did so at a greatly reduced rate and, if the tendency continues, may eventually reverse their movement and start to grow again."

4. "The entire southern tier of counties, except Gage, declined faster than in the previous decade."

5. "Isolated other areas in northeastern Nebraska and the eastern part of the Panhandle increased their rate of fall."

Writing in the September issue of Business in Nebraska, a bulletin issued by the University's department of research, Dr. Palmer listed two counties which appear to have the best chance of success in improving their positions.

They are the strategically located county of Colfax—which is between the fast growing centers of Fremont and Columbus—and York, surrounded by the faster moving counties of Seward, Fillmore, Clay, and Hamilton. He added that the continual downhill slide of the long dormant southeastern corner counties of Nemaha and Richardson, "with their splendid location between Omaha and St. Joseph, is hard to see."

He continued:

"From 1940 to 1950 in Nebraska, towns of less than 1,000 tended to lose, and those over 1,000 to gain. From 1950 to 1960, however, the line of division was shifted to 2,000. Towns under this tend to lose, and those over 2,000 to gain."

One source of disappointment, he said, is that the total population of the state did not reach the expectations aroused by the Census Bureau's estimates for the years between 1950 and 1960.

He added that if the Nebraska population had been increasing as fast as the estimates indicated, the 1960 figures should have been 1,465,000 or 60,000 more than it appears to be. However, he said, the addition in the final results of "floaters"—those persons who reported from other than their home localities — could make up as much as two-thirds of the difference.

The greatest loss in population of rural areas appeared to extend in bands, according to Dr. Palmer. "One area is in the southeastern corner of the state; another extends all along the southern tier of counties and up into the southwestern region; and there is a band north and south through the center of the state from Dawson up to Keya Paha county.

Another band of losing counties forms a circle around Norfolk in the northeastern part, and still one more extends along the southern edge of the Sand Hills and through the center of the Panhandle from Custer to Sioux County."

The depopulation of the rural areas, he said, is a continuation of the trend during previous decades. "Only 8 of the 93 counties had an actual increase in their rural population, 6 of these being counties in which a larger city is located or—as in the case of Sarpy County—one which is next to a large city.

"In addition to Sarpy, these include Douglas (Omaha), Lancaster (Lincoln), Hall (Grand Island), Dodge, (Fremont), and Platte (Columbus). The other two are oil-booming Kimball County and Hooker County in the Sand Hills (which has no city over a 1,000 population).

"In all the remaining 85 counties, the population outside the cities fell. Half of these counties lost more than 12.6% of their rural population."

Some counties, he pointed out, have decreased rates of growth because of advances in the 1940's that could not be expected to be duplicated in the 1950's. He listed these counties as: Dawson, where the alfalfa dehydration industry developed rapidly in the '40s; Cheyenne, in which the decline in military installation counteracted the continuing oil boom; and Harlan, where the construction of the Harlan County Dam may have caused many workers to be counted in 1950, but whose completion, on the other hand, may have driven out a considerable number of farmers since 1950.

Fund Lack May Halt Youth Employment Aid

"A lot of kids don't know how to get a job and we want to help them out."

Victor E. Wendelin, publicity director of the Youth Employment Service, has spent the last 3½ years trying to help Lincoln youth and fears that his and the YES efforts may soon come to an end.

The trouble, as so often is the case, comes from lack of funds. Although a non-profit organization, the YES needs about $2,500 a year to operate.

Previously the money has been raised by soliciting local business men and from donations from civic groups such as the Lincoln Youth Council.

This year a form letter was sent to 10,000 addresses randomly selected from the phone book. After two weeks only 55 replies have been received, which have brought in only $200.

"The YES has done a lot of kids a lot of good," Wendelin said, "but if we don't get the money we need we won't be able to continue."

"We receive a rent-free room at the YMCA and don't charge anything to the employer or the teen-agers for our services," he said in explaining the operation.

"Our only expenses are the cost of office supplies and the work of two part-time college girls."

"We had expected at least 2% of the 10,000 would respond to our request but they haven't."

"We have to do something to get off the hook."

Goldwater Charges Demos 'Sterile'

...Senator Speaks At Kearney

By Don Walton

Kearney—Sen. Barry Goldwater Tuesday night charged that the Democratic party is "sterile" and "hypnotized by the concept of spending."

Further, the Arizona senator suggested, "anyone with imagination must be a Republican."

Democrats, he said, are "the prisoners of slogans forged 25 years ago."

Goldwater is the man Republican conservatives have chosen for their national spokesman.

Here in Kearney, more than 500 persons at a GOP appreciation dinner cheered his every word.

Most of them were directed at Democrats:

The opposition party, Goldwater said, relies on "crackpot socialist ideas, centralized government and the welfare state."

The 1960 Democratic platform would result in "the destruction of this nation," he suggested.

Democrats, Goldwater charged, have "no faith in the Constitution or the Declaration of Independence."

Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John Kennedy's New Frontier, Goldwater noted, was also the title of a book written by Henry Wallace in 1934.

Furrther, he continued, "Vice President Nixon flat on his back is a better candidate than Kennedy on both feet."

The senator also told Buffalo County Republicans he is "tired of being told that our military power is second rate." And, he said, "we must get over this pussyfooting idea that we can live with Russian Communism."

America "must gain a victory, not just peace," Goldwater said.

'Not Always Agreed'

Sen. Carl Curtis told the GOP rally that he has "not always agreed with our administration on agriculture."

However, he charged, "the greater responsibility for the farm program rests upon Democratic majorities in Congress."

The farm problem, Curtis said, "needs another look."

The senator said he is working on a plan which would increase Nebraska sugar beet production by 50% in the next 6 years.

Gov. Dwight Burney told the dinner:

"I do not believe anyone should be especially happy to be placed in office because of the passing of another.

"But, what a wonderful thing it is to be the governor of the great state of Nebraska.

"The chair is not even warm yet. I admit I do not know much about the job yet, but I have an inkling of what it is.

"I hope I am worthy."

Fourth District Republican congressional nominee David Martin also spoke.

Boy's Bike Ride Ends Tragically

A boy and his bike on the highway spelled tragedy at Kimball recently. Five-year-old Dwayne Daugherty, who began kindergarten only a week ago, was run over by a large semi-truck on U.S. 30 on the east edge of Kimball. He was killed instantly as the huge tandem wheels passed over his body. Witnesses said the boy apparently failed to see the truck. The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Daugherty of Kimball. (Photo Special to The Star)

Construction Vehicles Damaged By Vandals

Vandals who did minor damage early Tuesday to 3 road construction vehicles on Valley Rd. between Fall Creek Rd. and So. Cotner Blvd. must have been sweating from their efforts.

The vandals cooled themselves off by letting the air out of 7 tires, police said.

In addition, they broke a street light globe by throwing a gas cap at it, tore sparkplug wires out of two tractors and a road patroller and threw away a dip stick.

Condition 'Good' For Garageman Suffering Burns

A Lincoln man whose right hand and left arm were burned when gasoline caught fire remained in good condition late Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

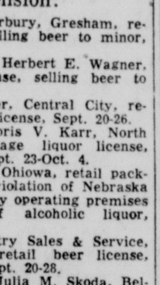

Carl Westling, 55, of 6640 Havelock Ave., suffered the burns when a car's wiring shorted and set the gas afire at the Westling Garage, 6033 Havelock, firemen said.

Havelock station firemen from across the street put the flames out.

It was only late last Friday when a burglar-arsonist tried to enter the garage by setting fire to a rear door.

A New Political Picture

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There will not be as great changes in the political scene for many a year as there have been in Nebraska in the past week. The Democratic ticket for the November election has been considerably juggled as the result of several unexpected events. The unfortunate death of Gov. Ralph Brooks will put a new name in his place on the ballot against Sen. Carl Curtis.

The withdrawal of Edward A. Dosek as a candidate for lieutenant governor led to the appointment of Norman Otto of Kearney to fill that vacancy. The current picture was changed when Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney took over the reins of state office in a succession movement. How much effect all of this will have on the November outcome is difficult to say. It could have little effect at all or it could make a susbstantial difference. Much will depend upon whom the Democratic State Central Committee names to take the late governor's place on the ballot.

Scene Sharply Changed

At the present time the governor's administrative assistant, Robert Conrad, and State Agricultural Director Pearle Finigan are the two top contenders for the post. Actually, the word "contenders" is not quite adequate because it implies a spirit of competition. There is some question as to how competitive Conrad and Finigan are in the matter.

Both have been long-time friends in the political wars and neither would advance his own cause at this point at the expense of the other. The situation is quite unusual in politics and certainly leaves the committee free to make a selection based entirely upon its best thinking.

★

This, of course, is the situation assuming that Conrad and Finigan are the only prospects for the post. A third consideration is Clair Callan of Odell but his chances are subject to some questioning. Callan is not considered a close part of that faction which is expected to control the actions of the Central Committee. If he were appointed to fill the ballot vacancy, it would probably represent an effort to unify the party for the task ahead.

But the chances for such a unity movement do not appear too good at this time. This is the major question surrounding Callan rather than how effective he might be as compared to either Conrad or Finigan. The question of the effectiveness of either of those two is a tough one. Conrad would be hard to turn down if he wanted the post because he has worked long and hard in the Democratic ranks.

His position as administrative assistant to the late governor would also seem to give him a little more of an inside track to the job. Conrad would also campaign vigorously and he is an effective speaker. If he has a weakness, it lies in the probability that he would not attract much independent or Republican vote.

Conrad's weakness is Finigan's strength and vice versa. The agricultural director is not as well known as Conrad and not as experienced a campaigner as the gubernatorial assistant. On the other hand, Finigan is widely respected among people of all political faiths. He makes a very good impression and would be a most formidable opponent for Mr. Curtis.

In the course of a full-length campaign, Finigan would undoubtedly make great inroads into the normal Curtis strongholds and one would have to give him a good chance of upsetting the senator. But this will not be a normal campaign because of the late date at which the Democratic candidate will be entering the battle. It is going to take money and organization to defeat Curtis and there is little of either at this time for the Democrats. And there is less than two months to remedy the situation. This means that the Demo candidate is going to enter the race with all the odds stacked against him, regardless of who it is. The senator's biggest liability at the time is the GOP farm record and Finigan would offer the most hope of capitalizing upon this.

Time Of The Essence

The rest of the GOP record and Curtis's in particular also offer plenty of campaign material but the Democrats would have to show how this record of conservatism and big money interests acted to the detriment of the state. What the Democrats face is a wholesale educational campaign in an extremely limited period of time.

Too Complicated

The American Psychological Association met recently in Chicago and, as usual, had an exciting and rewarding time, picking the average American to pieces.

In the minds of the psychologists no person, especially an American, ever does a simple straightforward thing. Rather he is always compensating for some awful interior gnawing. If he does a foolish thing it isn't because he is a foolish fellow. It is because he is covering up.

The debate in Chicago had to do with why America went for the compact car. One side said it was because of a national guilt complex. The country has done too well. It was getting on the American's nerves to go tooling around in a long, rakish two tone job while the rest of the world was trudging along on foot. So he cut himself down to size, took his transportation in more drab hues, invited a measure of discomfort and went for smaller dimensions.

The other side said, "Nonsense." Once the big expensive car was the number 1 status symbol. But all cars got big and expensive while a resourceful country figured out new things to express status. There is the elaborate new house, a world tour, or a fancy speed boat. A status symbol is no good unless only a few can have it.

This is all very well and serves the purpose of psychology nicely. But there is a less complicated side to it. The average American buys the car the manufacturer decides to prepare for him and actually has little to say about what he wants. It is like clothes the stylist decrees and the buyer agrees.

The great lure of the small car appeared when it became available. It remains because it better fits the pocketbook. No one ever raved about the old Model T Ford which was neither a thing of beauty or comfort. But it fit the mass pocketbook and provided the wanted ingredient—motorized transportation.

Whom Is He Kidding?

It is a good thing Mayor Pat Boyles is not in court with the brief he held Monday for the City Council's new position on structures overhanging the streets and sidewalks. The fact is that he couldn't get to first base with such a brief and we would be surprised if he doesn't know it. The Council amended the building code to give itself authority to grant special permission to build structures overhanging the public streets and sidewalks.

"It merely gives the Council the right," the mayor said, "to permit such structures not now permitted under the ordinance. The Council may approve or disapprove individual applications and impose any conditions or limitations it sees fit." Evidently, the mayor has forgotten about the theory of equal government for all. Not only is his statement a legal farce but it is a practical impossibility.

What the Council did was simply open the door to all sorts of special interest treatment and submit itself to endless pressures. In effect, the Council now has no law whatsoever to fall back on in connection with this subject and the issue falls squarely into the area of personalities, favoritism, etc. Hugh Thorne hit the nail on the head when he told his Council colleagues that the action was "just asking for trouble."

The person who says that all other cities permit overhangs just doesn't know what he is talking about. If he followed municipal affairs elsewhere at all, he would know that cities which have overhangs consider them a monstrosity and, at best, a nuisance. The trend is toward eliminating such overhangs, not encouraging them and Lincoln is running headlong in the wrong direction.

The sad thing is that such action cannot be justified in Lincoln in any way. There is plenty of room in Lincoln, downtown or anywhere else, for business and industry to spread out for the space they need. This overhang business will make a further contribution to the deterioration of the downtown area—a condition which had already caused enough concern. Councilman Thorne and Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis are to be commended in standing firm against this change. Councilman C. W. D. Kinsey was not present at the meeting so his position is unknown.

The Bigger Reason

The Department of Interior has announced that it will invest $9.5 million in five new reclamation starts. One of them will be the resumption of Nebraska's Ainsworth project for which $1.7 million has been allocated.

Nebraskans will receive this news gratefully. Its economic growth is closely linked with reclamation and water use. The more abundant the federal investment capital the farther Nebraska will rise in economic stature.

The reversal of the early Eisenhower policy is also welcome. For most of the past years the administration has been opposed to new reclamation starts. It was one of the administration's most unfortunate decisions. While its reversal reflects a clearing of mind the relatively small allocation of funds for new starts does not indicate any early realization of the nation's reclamation needs. Yet the decision is significant because authorization itself is of paramount importance.

The subject of reclamation is a confused one because of the lack of clarity on its ultimate meaning. It tends to be parochial with the section to be economically benefitted seeing only the immediate benefits, while the critics see no point in being taxed so that someone else can prosper.

But in terms of geopolitics and national survival it plays an important role. In America's struggle with the communist East there are some formidable facts. Russia and China have almost three quarters of a billion people to 180 million for the U.S. They have also a greater land mass with a proportionate advantage in raw resources. Given time to weld such a formidable force through development of the technical means of bringing numbers and resources together into a competitive machine, the East could be a giant against a man. While the U.S. cannot control Communism's development it can maintain a relative size and strength by diligently developing its own resources and associating its strength with its allies. It is the one great hope for the West and that is never enhanced by an administration which chooses not to engage in resources development.

Admirals Still Under Sharp Fire

WASHINGTON —The heart-wrenching, human story behind the Navy band's tragic trip to South America is still locked in congressional files. It is a story of personal tragedy and Navy bungling.

The House Armed Services Committee never disclosed the full facts. It rapped the admirals on the knuckles, then quickly dismissed the disagreeable affair. But the House Freedom-Of-Information Committee, headed by California Congressman John Moss, hasn't closed its investigation.

One startling piece of evidence that has turned up is a letter written by crash victim Raymond Micallef to his wife, Norene, on the eve of the fateful flight that killed 19 bandsmen over Rio De Janeiro.

"I asked Coviello (chief petty officer) if we had to fly," Micallef wrote before boarding the death plane, "and he replied that I could say that I'll fly but under protest. So keep this letter if something should happen. I want it known that I am flying under protest."

This may explain why pretty Norene Micallef became hysterical during the funeral and screamed: "They killed him! They killed him!"

Earlier, band members had refused to board another plane the Navy had arranged for them after two pilots had warned that it was unfit to fly.

☆ ☆ ☆

House investigators have also received copies of an anguished complaint that Greensboro, N.C., attorney Zeb Young, father of another victim, wrote to the Navy. After the body of his boy, Jeff Young, arrived home in a shocking state, the father wrote bitterly:

"When I looked at the remains of my son, I must say I have never been more surprised or disgusted in all my life. To think that our great Navy would send my son home to me as naked as he was born into this world, not a rag of clothes on his body, not even a sheet over him. He was just thrown into the casket on some straw or wood shavings.

"You can't even ship a hog like that, or a piece of beef without having it properly wrapped . . . as many clothes as my son had right there on the U.S.S. Macon, and then you send him home to me in the garb he was in, and in peacetime at that. It is almost more than his mother and I can bear. I have never been so badly hurt in all of my life . . . this episode is certainly a nightmare to us, and to our friends, and something we cannot outlive."

For such bungling, some congressmen believe the admirals should get worse than a rap on the knuckles.

Kennedy Takes Sharper Line

EN ROUTE WITH SENATOR KENNEDY—The attempted disqualification of Senator John F. Kennedy as a presidential candidate on religious grounds by protestant clergy committed to Vice-President Richard Nixon has had a curious effect upon the pride of Boston.

Ever since the storm broke in Washington he has been sounding less and less like an emotional Celt and more and more like a wry Yankee. He has struck back at his tormentors only when questioned and has stuck tenaciously to his theme that the key to the perilous 'sixties lies in strong presidential leadership.

He was already throwing away texts of speeches prepared for him, which apparently seemed to him too complicated or pedantic. Now his pared-down remarks have the impact of convictions delivered with great simplicity.

Whether the audiences which greet him so cordially and in greater numbers than local managers had anticipated go away satisfied is their secret. They are clearly drawn to him by his marked star quality, always so much in evidence. But sometimes it seems he hardly sheds enough heat to warm them.

☆ ☆ ☆

Probably because he is having voice trouble, he has also exhibited the rarest phenomenon in politics—an excess of terminal facilities. He had only a few words for a San Diego crowd which left the cooling beaches for the hot airport to cheer him on short notice and for an extraordinary late Sunday night outpouring at El Paso.

This trend may be reversed as he barnstorms Texas, particularly when he faces the Greater Houston Ministerial Association. It is a refreshing change when a candidate gives audiences a straight story with so little hokum. But a few blandishments in the beginning might make them more responsive.

It seems well established that an argument is going on within the inner circle of Kennedy advisors about the tack he should be taking as the crucial weeks of the campaign begin. While some harsh things were said in the Democratic primaries, Kennedy even then showed a reluctance to imitate his forebears in the often-turbulent politics of his city and state. Behind the scenes he could be and was cool and ruthless, but he seemed to have an idea of the presidential image for the public which was quite different.

☆ ☆ ☆

In the end, of course, he must do what he sees fit and what his own viscera tell him fits him. It rarely happens that a candidate can adopt a style not really his own.

Texas is admittedly a trouble state for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. But the presidential nominee's initial venture in California left Democrats there feeling much encouraged.

They got bigger crowds and collected more money than they had expected, they even achieved a strong degree of teamwork behind closed doors. The fact that Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown got a big hand also at the Kennedy stops was especially pleasing to party managers who hope to elect a legislature and control the coming reapportionment after the 1960 census.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Religious Issue Sticks To Kennedy

WITH THE KENNEDY CAMPAIGN IN TEXAS — What has now become evident is that in perhaps as many as 15 to 18 states in the South and the Midwest Senator John F. Kennedy's religion has become a major factor in the campaign. There are those who believe it can be the decisive factor determining whether he wins or loses in November.

One of these states is Texas with its 24 electoral votes. Kennedy is campaigning hard from one side of the state to the other in the belief that his personal appeal and a discussion of the paramount issues of war, peace, national security, the growth of the economy will override the question of his religion.

But it is difficult or impossible to gauge its effect. Like a fire in a coal mine, as one Kennedy strategist put it, it can be suppressed at one point only to go on smouldering far underground and out of reach. That is one reason why the polls—whether those that presume to test nationwide sentiment or the small house-to-house samples—are likely to be more wrong this time than ever before. For the average American is reluctant to say that this is why he will not vote for the Democratic candidate.

Despite several efforts to make his own viewpoint clear there is still confusion over Senator Kennedy's own position. It is very simple. For those who oppose him simply because he is a Catholic he says that he can make no response. This violates the provision in the Constitution that there shall be no religious test for office. Moreover it is like saying that you oppose a man because of the color of his eyes or the cut of his hair, as Kennedy sees it. He was born a Catholic, he lives a Catholic, and that is that.

But when it comes to the relationship between the Catholic church and the state and the question of religious freedom Senator Kennedy is prepared to answer any and all questions. He believed that he had long since made his position on the separation of church and state unmistakeably clear. And he and those helping him map his campaign thought the question had been laid to rest in the West Virginia primary, where he won handsomely despite an attack on his religion. And West Virginia is a state in which the Catholic population is put at five percent or less.

The question of the separation of church and state is a broad field covered by a mass of literature. One of the latest contributors to the literature is Bishop James Pike, the Episcopal Bishop of northern California, who spoke at the Michigan State fair on the day before Kennedy's appearance there. Both in his speech and in his recently published book, "Roman Catholic In The White House," Bishop Pike takes the view that to oppose Kennedy merely because he is a Catholic is bigotry.

That is what Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and the other protestant ministers, in forming the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom, seem to be doing. In his Los Angeles press conference Kennedy interpreted their statements as impugning his loyalty.

But what Bishop Pike goes on to do in his book is discuss the position of the Catholic church in America in detail. He raises the question of the priority of a long series of papal encyclicals affirming the church's authority over every area of life and its inherent supremacy in the religious field as against the "American interpretation" as put forward by some Catholic theologians in this country. Under this interpretation the separation of church and state is accepted as a fact of American life.

That is the area in which Kennedy is prepared to discuss the whole question. His statements of the past year have been in line with this interpretation. As one result he has come under attack from some of the publications of his own church.

Whatever the moral, theological and philosophical arguments, this has become also a matter of practical politics. In the Pacific Northwest, for example, it has been assumed that the liberal tradition of the past still prevailed.

But in the state of Washington there is, as Kennedy discovered when he passed through, an undercurrent of disquiet. Albert D. Rosellini, running for re-election, and five of the other statewide candidates are Catholics. This seems to raise the question in an acute form. A somewhat similar situation exists in Iowa.

Some reports of Kennedy's reaction, when questions on his religion are put to him, have him angry and outraged. Rather, he is puzzled and profoundly disturbed. When he says that the issues in this campaign are as significant as those of 1860 he believes just that. And he sees the question of religion as a kind of smoke screen obscuring any realistic discussion of the issues and the far-reaching problems of America in the world today.

Two Events

Blair, Neb.

Two epic-making events took place this past week in Nebraska politics. One was perpetrated at Laurel, Nebraska, by Sen. Curtis, the self-appointed leader (between elections) of the "despised organized labor" movement, when he blithely said:

"A Republican administration means a brighter day for the working man and woman of America."

If anyone will buy anything that Mr. Curtis says that is favorable to labor, he ought to have his head examined.

The other event—Mr. Wedemeyer said at the Tekemah GOP dinner that Mr. Kennedy isn't mature enough to be president. This gibes with what many other Republican politicians have been saying. Apparently they think that a boy becomes a man somewhere between the ages of 43 (the age of Kennedy) and 47 (the age of Mr. Nixon). How happy I am that I lived in an era when the law of the land proclaimed that 21 years was the age of manhood.

Religious Bigotry

Lincoln, Neb.

With the prestige of the nation at an all-time low throughout the world, now comes the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale and his coterie of bigots presuming to dictate to American citizens how they shall vote. By the action of Mr. Peale, the nation continues to lose its reputation for religious tolerance and can pose no longer as the champion of liberty of conscience.

Mr. Peale wonders if a Roman Catholic president would be able to withstand altogether the determined efforts of the hierarchy of Candidate Kennedy's church to breach the wall of separation of church and state. Only bigots, born of ignorance and nursed by intolerance and insolence, condemn according to the creeds and customs to which they were born and inject religion into a political campaign. Mr. Peale should try to rise above his environment and view human relations and habits by the light of the whole world's history. He should throw aside his armor of religion and assume the soft, glowing robe of Christianity.

The Catholic church is the only world-wide, cohesive force dedicated to fight against communism. Would Mr. Peale sow discord among their ranks? He implies that Mr. Kennedy is duty-bound to submit to the direction of his church. What nonsense!

Carl Croons

Hastings, Neb.

For pure and unadulterated gall, Sen. Curtis claimed it when, in his speech at Laurel last week, he said: "A Republican administration means a brighter day for the working man and woman of America."

As long as deficit spending goes on, the Republican party can keep the Republican ship afloat. There has been $34 billion of deficit spending during the past eight years. Deficit spending means spending what you haven't got. It is like the fellow who writes a check on a bank when he is already overdrawn. They put some folks in jail for doing that. Of course, the administration puts up bonds and more money is pumped into the channels of trade, but it is all borrowed money with which the Republican party is running the government today.

Such is the fact behind the song Sen. Curtis sings, and the sobering fact is that the men who hear him make such outlandish statements have to go out behind the barn for a kicking machine to kick them for listening to such outlandish statements.

Social Security

Lincoln, Neb.

In reference to a letter in the Sept. 9 Star on Social Security by James R. Hanson, I will answer him.

We would not have a social security law if it wasn't for Democratic leadership. Sen. John Kennedy put much hard work into improving the social security law. He offered an amendment to include the farmers as well as many thousands of others.

Vice President Nixon did nothing for the law in the first place. His votes in the House and Senate were mostly in the interests of special workers who live off the labors of others.

It is high time to vote in a Democrat for president. The nation will build up to a new high with John F. Kennedy in the White House.

Castro Will Attend U.N. Meet Next Week

Havana (AP)—Fidel Castro decided Tuesday to attend the United Nations assembly in New York and support policies of leftist, anti-American summiters led by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Cuba's aims were outlined as follows by Castro's Foreign Minister Raul Roa, who will be the sub-chief of the Cuban delegation:

1. Seating of Red China in the U.N.
2. Recognition of Algerian independence.
3. Support for Patrice Lumumba as Congo premier.
4. Denunciation of U.S. "imperialistic policies."

Included in the 10-member delegation besides Castro and Roa will be agrarian reform chief Antonio Nunez Jimenez and Manuel Bisbe, Cuba's permanent U.N. delegate.

Flying To N.Y. Sunday

The government radio station VOZ reported Castro and his party will fly to New York Sunday. The Assembly opens Tuesday.

In Washington, the State Department said no restrictions on movement such as those imposed on Khrushchev will be applied to Castro.

Roa made it clear in a speech to university students that the Castro government will go down the line with Communist bloc countries.

He declared the U.N. representation of the Chinese people "no longer could correspond" to the government of Nationalist China on Formosa.

The nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek broke relations with Cuba recently after Castro announced recognition of Red China.

The government controlled press repeatedly has voiced editorial support of the Soviet position on the Congo.

It was a foregone conclusion that Castro will take advantage of the occasion to level another vitriolic blast at what he has termed U.S. physical and economic aggression.

Russ Again Rebuffed

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Dag Hammarskjold Tuesday of personally violating Security Council resolutions by taking action regarded as unfriendly toward Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, asked for an immediate session of the Council to air the charges against the U.N. secretary-general, but he failed to get one.

He made the request in a letter to Italian Ambassador Egidio Ortona, Council president, that left no doubt Moscow will champion Lumumba's cause before the 11-nation Council.

Support Lacking

Zorin asked for a 3 p.m. meeting. But Ortona did not find enough support among members for an afternoon meeting. After private consultation, the president called a session for 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Hammarskjold was not expected to reply to the Soviet charges until the Council meets.

Outside U.N. Headquarters, chief delegates of African nations met behind closed doors with the two rival delegations sent here from the Congo — one representing Lumumba and the other President Joseph Kasavubu.

Car Damages Building

$800 damage was done to the Amusement Services Co. building at 895 No. 16th Tuesday evening when a car driven by Franklin D. Crumb, 22, of 2219 No. 29th, crashed into it. Crumb told police he was attempting a right turn onto W from 16th when his car door flew open and he fell out onto the pavement. The impact dented the wall and knocked over paint and record-laden shelves inside. (Star Staff Photo)

Missing Bicycle Found; Finder Lost By Police

Police are looking for a Lincoln man who has a brand-new red bicycle.

They don't want to arrest him; they don't even know who he is. They just want to get the bicycle back to its owner, Bobby Lybarger of 1128 Cornhusker Hwy.

Bobby reported his bike, which has a white saddle, white hand grips, chrome handlebars and white-stripped fenders, missing from near his home sometime Friday.

Acting Desk Sgt. Louis Greiner said a man called that afternoon and said he had the bike. But Greiner didn't get his name because of a flood of phone and radio calls.

Police said Miss McMahon, 59, suffered a possible broken nose when her car was involved in a right-angle collision with one driven by David B. Lederer, 21, of Apt. 2, 1125 So. 15th.

GOPs Discuss Lancaster Young Labor Problems

A panel discussion on labor-management problems highlighted the Tuesday evening meeting of the Lancaster County Young Republicans.

Henry F. Greenwalt, president of the Lincoln central labor body, and Charles Stenicka, a labor relations consultant, were the members of the panel. Moderator was Ralph Slocum.

The Landrum-Griffin bill, the possibility of a labor relations act for Nebraska and a Nebraska minimum wage were the 3 topics discussed.

Authority To Submit 2nd Runway Proposal

By Virgil Falloon

The Lincoln Airport Authority voted to submit a proposed $2.2 million second runway plan for the Lincoln Air Force Base to the Federal Aviation Agency for review.

While no federal funds are now available, the Authority agreed at Tuesday's meeting that preliminary plans, conditioned on a tentative working agreement with the Air Force, should get immediate review by the FFA.

Authority Chairman Leo Beck Jr. said the review would determine whether the plan would meet FAA requirements so that the Authority would be ready to ask for federal aid when funds become available.

Agreement Reviewed

Executive Director Rolland Harr said that an operating agreement concerning the proposed municipal runway has been worked out with LAFB officials and is currently being reviewed by higher Air Force echelons.

He estimated the working agreement may be completed "within a month."

The proposed plan calls for a 100-by-4,000-foot municipal runway parallel to and 3,000 feet east of the existing north-south LAFB jet runway.

The LAFB has agreed to the proposed location, including transfer of needed land, after turning down a previously-proposed location of only 750 feet east of the jet runway.

In other action, the Authority:

—reviewed preliminary plans for a 135-by-45 addition to the Municipal Air Terminal building. The plans are also being reviewed by United Air Lines and Frontier Air Lines.

—agreed to cooperate with other Nebraska cities in legal action to keep Frontier Air Lines flying its northern route in a pending case before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

—was told by Harr that work for doubling the parking at the Municipal Terminal Building is ready to start as soon as vacation of the non-used portion of a county road can be obtained.

—agreed that a satellite field (for use of small training and non-radio planes) could be operated on a contract basis if the proposed second-runway program is approved.

Capers Of Donna End

30 Lives Lost In U.S. Property Loss Huge

Boston (AP)—Hurricane Donna blew herself to extinction Tuesday in the Canadian provinces, ending her destructive sweep up the Atlantic coast.

She caused more than a billion dollars damage — mostly in Florida — and took 143 lives, 30 of them in the United States. Eight died in New England.

Donna aimed her final blast on New England. Hundreds of communities were without electricity for as much as 24 hours. Thousands of homes were without light or telephone service.

The Atlantic coast was strewn with the wreckage of countless pleasure craft.

Thousands of coastal dwellers evacuated from Long Island, N.Y., Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts returned to their homes today.

Beach Homes Flooded

Although there was considerable flooding of beach homes it was nothing to compare with Hurricane Diane which swept up the coast 5 years ago last month. Her toll was 100 dead and 530 million dollars damage in New England alone. Diane sent tons of water raging down major river systems.

Donna was one of the most destructive storms to hit New York City, however. Weather Bureau Chief Ernest J. Christie said it will go down in history as the biggest hurricane to hit Manhattan.

Thousands of Massachusetts homes faced the possibility of food spoilage as their refrigerating units depend on electricity. Health authorities issued warnings to be on the alert for spoiled food.

Guinea Gets Red Aid

Tokyo (AP)— Communist China signed an economic agreement with Guinea Tuesday and agreed to extend 25 million dollars is aid to the African republic in the next 3 years.

Ike Signs Medical Aid For Aged Bill

Washington (AP) — A stroke of President Eisenhower's pen Tuesday opened the way for the federal government to help pay the medical bills of elderly men and women in need.

Eisenhower signed a bill permitting the new program to begin Oct. 1. But its actual operation hinges on when the individual states are ready to go.

In the first year, it will cost an estimated $262 million—$202 million in federal grants and $60 million in state money. Ultimately, some congressmen say, the federal cost may climb to $2 billion a year, depending on how liberal the states want to be. The states will set the size and extent of benefits.

Open To All In Need

It's open to anybody over 65 and its authors say that 12.4 million of the nation's 16 million older persons will be eligible.

As a practical matter, the program is likely to help perhaps 1.5 million persons a year at the outset.

Any older person can take part whether or not he or she is a Social Security pensioner. The test is need.

Depending on what the states decide—and their individual plans are subject to federal approval—the benefits could cover hospital and nursing home care, doctors' services, dental work, eyeglasses, drugs and the like.

Two Groups

Beneficiaries fall into two groups:

1. About 2.4 million now on the old age assistance rolls. Officials estimate perhaps 360,000 of these might need medical help in any year. For them, the federal government will increase grants to the states under the already-operating old age program.

2. About 10 million others over 65 who are not on relief, but are without the money to handle all their health costs. Between 500,000 and one million in this category might need such aid in any year. The federal government will chip in with the states in financing a new health program for them.

Under each of these two parts, the federal share will range from 50% to 80%, depending on a state's per capita income.

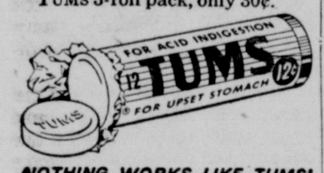

The new medical aid program was included in a bill changing the Social Security system in a number of ways.

Chiefly, it eases somewhat restrictions on the outside earnings allowed retired persons drawing retirement benefits.

Among other things, it also increases payments to about 400,000 orphans and erases a requirement that a person must be at least 50 to draw disability money.

The meeting will be to hear the views of individuals and groups on road problems in the following counties: Grant, Arthur, Keith, Hooker, McPherson, Lincoln, Thomas, Logan, Custer and Dawson.

The information is to be used by the commission this fall in setting up the construction schedule for the next two years.

Representing the commission will be Kirk Mendenhall of North Platte and Thane Davis of Hyannis, and Ed Finigan, commission secretary.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

This is an entertaining week. A week of national fiestas dedicated to free enterprise. (Why is it that everything dedicated to free enterprise costs so much?)

Anyway, today begins National Home Week. It is sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders who hope, if you don't have a home already, you will build one immediately. Once you have the home——

☆ ☆ ☆

A house is not ahome — as Polly Adler wrote in her brisk book on free enterprise.

Once you have built the house, it is only a beginning.

You must make a major fight to keep the jungle from taking it over.

Your house — the mortgage is still just as good as new — begins to spring leaks.

The faucets need new washers. The lush growth of the countryside has been replaced with blooms from the nursery. These sturdy plants put their roots in the rich, virgin topsoil. And they curl up and die like a dog.

It will take gallons of expensive plant vitamins to revive them.

Birds build their nests in the rain gutters. The rain comes through the roof.

Dishwashers grumble to a halt. Doors warp. Rust-proof screens begin to rust. Door hinges get out of line. And it seems in this location, not all of David Sarnoff's merry men can get you a flickering image of TV.

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.

☆ ☆ ☆

Fortunately, this state of affairs has been recognized by other free enterprisers. They have decided to do something about it.

This is National Soft Water Week.

"The problem with your equipment," said the repairman, "is the water is too hard."

He said the hard water was raising cain with the dishwasher, the washing machine, the sprinkler — all things we had put in during Home Fashion Week. (Sponsor: Home Furnishings Industry. October 10-19.)

He borrowed some of my tools — (National Hardware Week, April 25-May 4) — and unscrewed some of the faucets. He fished out little handsful of gravel.

"What you need is soft water," he said.

I suppose he gossiped a little that night in a local pub. For the next day a soft water company man showed up.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Soft water," said the soft water man softly, "is more than a boon to the housewife. It is a lifesaver. It keeps the plumbing clear. Clothes wash whiter. Dishes achieve a new, clearer polish. And, if I may be personal, it makes bathing a matter of more than reaching surface dirt."

"How much will it cost, soft water man?" I asked rubbing my grimy hands on my dirty trousers.

Well, the soft water man showed me on the back of an envelope how soft water actually pays for itself? Just by saving soap.

"Less soap, more lather," he said. "Figures don't lie."

This turned out to be true. With only a little soap everything burst into suds. The trouble was you couldn't get the ruddy suds off. You showered and got sudsy. You rinsed — bless your hearts, I used to give off bubbles for hours.

The water bill went up alarmingly.

☆ ☆ ☆

Each month we paid the soft water man — we leased this bubbly equipment and he kept it full. It was a revelation in free enterprise.

I simply mention it as one of the joys of owning a National Home. We don't have soft water now. I forget what happened — I think we didn't pay the bill. Anyway, the soft water man came and gave me a sorrowful look. And he took it out.

It was National Laugh Week. April 1-8. Sponsor: Comedy Workshops of America.

Library Board Hikes Non-Resident Fee

... All Officers Re-Elected

Service at the Lincoln City Library is going to cost non-taxpayers and non-residents of the city $6 per card a year as a result of a resolution passed by the city library board at its annual meeting Tuesday.

Holyoke

The new rate, as compared with the former $3 charge, will go into effect immediately, according to Board President George Holyoke.

Several members of the board questioned whether the $6 rate would deny needed library service to those who couldn't afford it, but all agreed that Lincoln taxpayers should not be forced to subsidize service to county patrons.

The Lancaster County Board, while drafting the county budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year, denied the library board's request for $13,100 to provide service to county residents.

All officers were re-elected for the coming year. They are Mrs. Edward Walt, vice-president, Jack Campbell, treasurer, and Holyoke, president.

Newly-appointed board member Jack Whitten was welcomed by the board.

Study Pension Plan

In other action, the board agreed to consider participation by some 12 eligible library employes in the city employes' pension plan to go into effect next year.

Library Director Charles Dalrymple was asked to get the reaction of the employes to participation in the plan.

The board indicated a desire to continue participation in the city workmen's compensation plan, although no formal action was taken at the meeting.

The financial report by Campbell included the following expenditures for the year: books, periodicals and films, $28,044; custodial salaries, $17,851; and staff salaries, $147,722.

Expenditures totaled $222,011, which was $109 under the library's budget.

Balance in special funds totaled $10,261.72.

Record Registration

The director's report by Dalrymple showed an all time high current registration of 42,208.

Circulation in August totaled 51,660 as compared with 46,897 in August, 1959.

The circulation figure, broken down among city libraries, was:

	August, 1959	August, 1960
Main	15,171	15,294
Bethany	4,895	6,242
College View	2,832	3,691
Havelock	2,091	2,561
Lefler	4,160	4,714
Northeast	3,553	3,621
South	8,240	8,627
University Place	4,433	4,541
Hospitals	1,522	1,281
Sub total	46,897	50,772
Belmont	0	888
TOTAL	46,897	51,660

Dalrymple said that higher cost of utilities were attributed to extremely bad weather conditions in the past year and maintenance costs occasioned by floor problems at the main library.

Higher salaries, he said, were caused by a heavy work load throughout the year and staff turnover.

MORRISON:
GOP Tactics 'Unbecoming, Show Malice'

Democratic gubernatorial nominee Frank Morrison charged Tuesday that his opponent has "willfully and with malice aforethought instituted campaign tactics unbecoming our basic concepts of fair play in Nebreska politics."

Morrison said Republican nominee John Cooper has "completely ignored" his telegram request for an explanation of statements regarding an alleged campaign contribution from an Omaha labor official.

Cooper, Morrison said, stated in York Sept. 2 that Leonard Shaeffer had given Morrison $7,500 for his campaign.

The Democrat said this was "a complete falsehood."

Morrison then asked Cooper to supply him with the name of his informant "since the statement was not only unworthy but libelous."

Now, Morrison said, he is requesting that "responsible officials of the Republican Party demand an apology from their candidate or refuse to further endorse his statements or actions."

Test Sanity Of One-Time NU Assistant

Savannah, Ga. (UPI) — Frederick B. Hudson, former student at the University of Nebraska, will undergo a sanity hearing today to determine if he is mentally competent and able to stand trial for the death of a government worker in 1956.

Hudson, 39, has been held in the Chatham County jail since arriving from the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield, Mo.

He is charged with the death of Moultrie A. Warren, Hudson's superior in the U.S. Customs Building in Savannah at the time of the slaying.

Hudson was a student in geology at Nebraska before entering government service. He was committed as mentally ill after the death of Warren, bludgeoned with a window sash weight in April, 1956.

Hudson was a graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska in 1952 and 1953. An earlier wire service story erroneously identified him as a University professor.

Lincoln Joins Nation In Honoring Pershing

By Virgil Falloon

Lincoln joined the nation Tuesday in commemorating the 100th anniversary of her adopted son—General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

Dr. Wesley C. Becker of Lincoln, one-time aide to General Pershing, was principal speaker at a commemorative luncheon sponsored by American Legion Post 3.

"General Pershing was a great leader of men," Dr. Becker told the 150 attending Legionnaires and guests. "He implanted his personality of aggressiveness and decisiveness on the American Expeditionary Force."

Dr. Becker credited the "open warfare" tactics of the old Indian fighter with getting the Allies out of the trenches to defeat the Germans.

Opposed Armistice

The Lincoln physician said Gen. Pershing opposed the Allied armistice because the German army was able to return to Germany as an "undefeated army."

"Pershing changed the course of history—for better or for worse—and has left his imprint on history for all time," Dr. Becker concluded.

Gen. Pershing came to his adopted town of Lincoln in 1891 as a military instructor at the University of Nebraska until 1895.

After World War I, he bought a home at 1748 B, where he lived with his sisters., May Pershing and Mrs. D. M. Butler and his son, Warren.

It was his avowed intention to settle down in Lincoln as soon as his public duties would permit.

When he died in 1948 at the age of 87, Gen. Pershing had left his name to Lincoln and subsequently to several of its buildings: Pershing Municipal Auditorium, Pershing Elementary School, and Pershing Armory.

Pershing Rifles Present

At the commemorative luncheon, the colors were posted by the Pershing Rifles, a drill team organized by Gen. Pershing while a military instructor on the Nebraska campus.

Now a national organization, the Pershing Rifles are represented on 135 college campuses having reserve officer training units.

Dignitaries at the luncheon included Gov. Dwight Burney, Mayor Bartlett E. Boyles, Adj. Gen. Lyle Welch, Chancellor Clifford Hardin, Col. Thomas Corbin, 818th Air Division commander, Brig. Gen. Clifford L. Dier, senior reserve officer in Nebraska, and Ken Tempero, national commander of the Pershing rifles.

Post Commander Orren Graves presided at the commemorative luncheon.

Pershing Anniversary Commemorated By Ike

Washington (AP) — In solemn silence, President Eisenhower Tuesday laid a simple wreath atop the plain marble stone that marks the grave of America's World War I combat leader, General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

The wordless ceremony, on a grassy hillside in a secluded spot in Arlington National Cemetery, had for its backdrop the boom of a 21-gun salute, the muffled roll of drums and the sound of taps.

It was a tribute not only to the 100th anniversary of the birth of the beloved "Black Jack" Pershing, cavalryman and Indian fighter, but to the two million men he led to victory in Europe in World War I.

Career Record

Pershing, who died in 1948 at the age of 87, had a military career that spanned an unequalled 66 years. Only he among U.S. military men has held the 5-star rank of General of The Armies. Eisenhower, a "general of the army", and others in World War II had 5 stars but less all-encompassing titles.

The President flew to Arlington from the White House by helicopter.

Pershing's son, F. Warren, walked to the grave with Eisenhower.

The president accepted a simple wreath from a bearer, placed it on the marble marker and, bareheaded, stood silent for a few moments. After the playing of taps by an army bugler, the President and his party turned away from the grave and walked back through a cordon of honor guards to his waiting auto.

Then Eisenhower made the short trip to his helicopter and returned to the White House.

In downtown Washington, the day was marked by a parade of the active and reserve military services, civic and patriotic organizations down Constitution Ave.

At the Pentagon, a commemorative ceremony was held in the inner courtyard. Participants included the chiefs of the armed forces and many of the Defense Department's military and civilian employes.

Home Of Pershing Enshrined

Laclede, Mo., (AP) — A rural Gothic house, where General of The Armies John J. Pershing spent his youth, was dedicated as a shrine here Tuesday, the 100th anniversary of his birth.

In Washington, President Eisenhower bowed his bare head before a simple stone marker in Arlington Cemetery in honor of the memory of the commander-in-chief of the first great American military action in Europe.

At dedication ceremonies, attended by an estimated 7,500 in this community of about 600, a message from the president was read by former Missouri Congressman Dewey Short, assistant secretary of the Army.

'Proud Event'

Eisenhower called the dedication of the Pershing boyhood home a proud and meaningful event for Missouri and the nation.

"In this home, General Pershing learned his first lessons in obedience and responsibility which stood by him for the rest of his life," the president's message said.

The president said Pershing was the supreme example of devotion to duty in his actions as a soldier and a leader of soldiers.

Tuesday was set aside by Congress to commmemorate the deeds of the highest ranking officer in U.S. Army history and of the two million Americans who fought under him in Europe in World War I.

Service Wide

His military service ranged from fighting Indians to leading the American Expeditionary Forces in World War I.

Pershing was born in a railroad section house here. Later the family moved into a 11-room, two-story frame house a block north of the town square. It is this house which was dedicated as a shrine Tuesday.

Pershing lived here the first 22 years of his life. He was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1886. He died in 1948.

Mosquito Elimination Costs $3,500; Covers 2,000 Acres

The cost of spraying about 2,000 acres west of Lincoln to kill mosquitoes was estimated Tuesday at about $3,500.

Bill Kite, operator of Arrow Sprayers Inc., made this estimate to the County Board. The original estimate for the works was a maximum of $4,000.

Kite told the commissioners about 150 acres of bottom and creek land was sprayed twice during the 3-day spraying operation which was completed Sunday. He said 1,045 gallons of DDT and diesel oil were used by the two planes which did the work.

The board received a letter from the Chamber of Commerce expressing thanks for the effort to control the mosquito problem

Board Chairman Rollin Bailey said he and the other commissioners all have received many calls of appreciation from persons in the areas affected by mosquito infestation.

Three Named To Plan Group For County Hospital

County Board Chairman Rollin Bailey Tuesday announced the appointment of 3 men to a county convalescent hospital planning committee.

Bailey said Gene Wolken of 3535 Woodbine, Earl Carter of 6000 Everett and L. C. Price of 6740 Lexington will be the county's representatives on the 7-member committee, which will handle plans for construction of the proposed $1.1 million hospital for county welfare patients.

Bailey said Lincoln General Hospital will appoint 3 members and the 7th member will be appointed by the other committee members themselves. The proposed hospital will be located next to Lincoln General.

County inheritance tax funds will be used to help finance the project and the commissioners hope to qualify for federal funds next year, although their application has been rejected for the past two years.

Co. Board Cool To Fund Request

The County Board Tuesday heard a request from James Cox of the Malone Community Center that the county participate in the Katie Darby scholarship fund program.

Board Chairman Rollin Bailey told Cox that the commissioners have studied the program and have come to the conclusion that its benefits would be negated by the cost of administering the scholarship program.

The fund, administered by the State Child Welfare Dept., was set up to aid the education of needy youths throughout the state.

United Church Women Study Organization

Key members and leaders of the United Church Women became acquainted with the workings of their group at a meeting Tuesday.

Held at Antelope Park Church of the Brethren, the meeting was attended by Mrs. M. C. Leonard of Lincoln, a member of the national board of the United Church Women.

Mrs. A. F. Daland, president, installed the key leaders and presidents of member churchs' women's groups.

QUAIL MISSILE SHOT SUCCESS

Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. (AP)—A Strategic Air Command crew Tuesday successfully launched its fifth GAM72 Quail decoy missile from a B52G Stratofortress over the Eglin Gulf Test Range.

The diversion missile flew down range several hundred miles on a zigzag course in free flight. It was dropped from the bomb bay of the 8-jet bomber.

Mid Cheers And Tears Rush Week Closes

Bedlam broke loose on Sorority Row Tuesday afternoon — early afternoon, since 12:30 o'clock was the appointed hour. Actually it was all over on Monday night —all but the shouting, that is, and that took place Tuesday noon.

The new crop of sorority pledges picked up their bids at the Dorm, and proceeded to the house of their choice. On hand to greet their successes were members of the active chapters, and the screaming, the shrieks of joy were deafening.

If anyone was bored it was the traffic cop who somehow or other was caught in the rush.

At the Delta Gamma house to congratulate her daughter, Miss Susan Hardin (right) was Mrs. Clifford Hardin, and the active Delta Gamma with the pleased expression is Miss Jean Garner, DG pledge trainer.

Another mob scene involved the actives and pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma, and if you look closely (towards the right) you will see a familiar face—that of Joan Chenoweth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chenoweth of Santa Monica, Calif.

Please note the stag line in the background — not too distinct, but still there.

Three happy people were discovered going up the walk at the Pi Beta Phi house — two pledges and one active — The pledges, on either side of Miss Polly Moller, active chapter president, are Jo Del Nye of Omaha, and Anita Dunker of Schuyler.

There were a few tears of joy here and there — and the attractive little pledge wielding the hankie is sure that the actives must be right, and that she will be "so happy" with them. And so she will — until the work and no play routine begins next week.

Family Features

Dear Abby—

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My brother is married to a woman who has graduated from college and people call her "brilliant." She can talk intelligently about world affairs and she reads every best seller that comes along. But believe me when I say no one in the family will accept a second invitation to her home because she is such a careless housekeeper.

We ate there once and the silverware was encrusted with dirt and the glasses and dishes were filthy. She puts raw fruit and vegetables on the table without washing them. I once saw bugs crawling around on my salad. We have nothing against her, but we can't eat there. We've run out of excuses. Is it possible to come right out with the truth in a case like this and keep her friendship?

SISTER-IN-LAW

DEAR SIS: If you tell her the truth, you may lose her friendship. It's time someone took a bug out of the salad and put it in your brother's ear.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I know a girl isn't supposed to let a fellow kiss her on the first date, but when is it proper to let all the stops out?

JANE

DEAR JANE: After the organ plays "The Wedding March."

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office with another girl. We usually go out for lunch together. She makes as much as I do, but I always end up paying the bill. She uses the old excuse, "I left my money in my other purse." How can I put a stop to this without appearing cheap?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: If you hold still for that line more than twice you must have left your brains in your other head. When her money's in her "other purse," tell her you'll "lend" her lunch money. And if that doesn't do it — find a new lunch mate.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend is in the service. He is stationed near enough to home so that he gets home once in a while. When he is away he writes the dreamiest love letters saying he is counting the minutes until he sees me. But when he gets home he spends all his time running around with his buddies and I hardly ever see him. When he gets back on the base the love letters start coming again. I like this boy a lot, Abby, and want to know how to handle him.

CLIFF'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Write "Boswell" and tell him you don't want a pen-pal, you want a real live boyfriend.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Love Threatened" her suspicions are correct. My husband IS seeing me for other than business reasons. Who has a better right? Not all separations end in divorce. Some couples achieve a richer and happier relationship than ever before. With God's help, we shall.

STILL HIS WIFE

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

ASK—

Dorothy Draper

If you are planning to build, you're going to need an architect. If you don't know where to find one, watch the good magazines for pictures of houses you like. Then write in to the editor and ask for the name and address of the man who designed them.

There is no end to the satisfaction a really good architect can give you. Aside from saving you money he will undoubtedly contribute new and exciting ideas of his own. And he will know all about the latest building and zoning regulations, requirements of the fire laws, the best of the new materials.

If you plan to have a decorator or a landscape architect don't wait until later on to find them. They should be selected right along with your architect so that all three can consult from the very beginning.

When you're building a house it definitely pays to make the whole job as close to perfection as you can possibly manage. There is no bulkier white elephant than a mediocre house if you ever want to sell. On the other hand, an unusual, distinguished livable house—even though it has only four rooms—will always have a resale or rental value. So think before you bulid!

Mrs. W. P. asks:

"We have bought an old, old house which has dining room and living room connected. We papered both rooms alike in plain gold and green bambo paper; all rugs are green; valance in dining room over four windows is the same as the valance used in the living room as we tried to tie the two rooms together in this way. Have love seat in dark green damask in front of drawn drapes. This material is a rose of sharon design on white background. I have two little chairs exactly alike. I would like to have a change from the plain covering on the sofa but can't think of anything that will not clash with my rose design. Would you suggest something for the sofa and two little chairs. They are against the plain wall so could take anything."

Dear Mrs. W. P:

Do go see the new crisp and satiny looking chintzes. A tiny, all-over print in the rosy-red and green on a white background would be a good choice for your sofa and use the crisp white chintz or the same tiny print on the little chairs.

Mrs. P.H.S. asks:

"S.O.S. We need help! This is our drapery material (sample enclosed). This is our rug (sample enclosed). What color would you paint the walls? What color sofa and four chairs? I like these rose colors (sample enclosed). We have a stone (gray) fireplace, also three almost grown sons and a dog."

Dear Mrs. P.H.S.:

Why in the world did you pick out drapery material with so much turquoise in it if you like those rose colors shown in your letter? I would prefer pale turquoise walls with sofa and two chairs in turquoise and two chairs in black textured fabric. But you could use pale pink for the walls (picking up the pale pink in your draperies) . . . have the sofa in the dark rosy-red of your sample and two chairs in black and two in rosy-red. The turquoise in your draperies could then be repeated in accessories.

Town Talk

—One door closes and another opens—or at least that's what we've been told—As far as the current month is concerned two doors have closed—State Fair and rush week—But another door is swinging wide open this week end—the football season, and with it, of course, comes a variety of activity.

There will be the usual pre-game luncheons and post-game dinners at the clubs around town, but we also have found some party hosts and hostesses who have plans for the first home game on Sept. 24.

We learned, for instance, that Dr. and Mrs. T. L. McKee and Dr. and Mrs. Arden Means of Holdrege have invited guests for a pre-game luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club on the 24th——And also planning a luncheon before the Nebraska-Minnesota game (Sept. 24) are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holquist and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schorr. Thirty couples have been invited to the party which will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holmquist.

* * *

* * *

—Following the Minnesota game Mr. and Mrs. William Clark (Sharon Quinn) of Omaha, will be a host and hostess at the home of Mrs. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Quinn.

* * *

—Certainly we are not ignoring the interim between now and a week from Saturday since the calendar is dotted with numerous interesting affairs.

One of these is the coffee for which Mrs. Robert Henderson will be hostess at her home on Friday morning when she pays courtesy to her mother, Mrs. Clarence Miles of Santa Barbara, Calif., formerly of Lincoln, who is the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter.

The guests have been invited for 10 o'clock.

* * *

The Mr. and Mrs. Club, incidentally, will open its season on Friday evening, Oct. 7, in the Terrace Room at Hotel Lincoln.

Officers of the club include Mr. and Mrs. Marlo Moore, vice president and Mr. and Mrs. Robin Loerch.

* * *

—A bride-elect will honor a bride-elect next Sunday when Miss Ann McIntyre entertains in courtesy to Miss Judy Hanneman. The guest list will include a group of old school friends, and Miss Hanneman will be presented with a pottery shower.

Betrothal

The betrothal of Miss Rocella Lindholm of Lincoln, to Russell A. Willis, Lincoln, son of J. C. Willis of Beatrice, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lindholm of Polk.

Plans are being made for an autumn wedding.

Both Miss Lindholm and her fiance are graduates of the National Business Institute in Lincoln.

To Entertain Alumnae Club

Mrs. Marvin Nelson will be hostess on Thursday evening to the alumnae of Delta Zeta sorority at her home, 5835 J. Following the 7:30 o'clock dessert, a silent auction will be held, and reports on the national convention of the sorority will be given.

Assisting Mrs. Nelson as hostesses will be Miss Joyce Johnston and Mrs. Robert Finley.

Toastmistress

Mrs. Ava Griffin presided at the Monday evening meeting of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club which followed a dinner at the YWCA.

The program topic, "Charm," was introduced by the toastmistress, Mrs. Josephine Stromer, and speakers were Mrs. Ruth Woodworth, "Attitudes;" Mrs. Eunice Peterson, "Human Behavior;" and Mrs. Josephine Eyen, "Physical Aspects."

Club Program

Topic mistress was Mrs. Ann Holst and speaking on the theme, "Inner Charm," were Mrs. Marjorie Bennett, Mrs. Vi Kuhl, Mrs. Anne Wentz and Miss Esteline Porter.

A talk on "The Usage of Words," was given by Mrs. Kuhl, and serving as general evaluator was Mrs. Angeline Camp assisted by Mrs. Wentz and Miss Cora Mae Briggs.

PTA Board

The first meeting of the fall for the members of the Elliott PTA board will be held next Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanna, 439 So. 30th. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead—king of diamonds.

The value of a hand may rise or fall considerably as the other players at the table make their bids. Seldom does a hand maintain its original evaluation as the bidding progresses.

Thus, if we attempted to assess the worth of the West hand at the point when the bidding is opened with one heart, it would register as not much more than a minimum opening bid. The reason is that there are only 13 high-card points and utter uncertainty about the value of the long hearts and diamonds. Neither suit is self-sufficient as trump.

But when East raises to two hearts, the hand grows in value, and, in fact, changes so much in its potential that there is a good chance ten tricks can be made. Hence, we would be inclined to criticize West's pass of two spades and think he should have made the more constructive bid of three diamonds. Perhaps this would have elicited another bid from East and led to a sacrifice bid of five hearts (down one).

The way the bidding went, though, South became declarer at four spades and made the contract by virtue of careful play. West led the king of diamonds and continued with the ace, which declarer ruffed.

South's problem was to avoid the loss of three club tricks. Declarer decided that rather than pin his hopes solely on the chance that East might have the ace of clubs, he would place his faith in an endplay that would cover the possibility of West's having the ace.

Accordingly, he led a trump to dummy and ruffed the last diamond. Then, after crossing to dummy with another trump, he led a heart and finessed the ten.

This unusual play put West in the position where the defense could get only one more trick, and South made the contract as a result. Whether West led a heart into the A-J, or a club which would establish declarer's king, South was bound to wind up with ten tricks.

'Team Teaching' Increases Efficiency, Learning

By Gerry Deal

A new program in the high school — large group instruction with the team teaching approach — is being conducted in several subjects at Lincoln High School this year.

Lincoln High Principal William Bogar told School Board members Tuesday that teaching, in many instances, can and should be done by a team of persons to obtain maximum efficiency and effectiveness.

"Team teaching attempts to lead to more rational separation and optimum use of specialized skills of each team member, to added incentives and greater satisfaction that results from the interplay of minds, and to increased intellectual stimulation of students by contacts with several personalities rather than one," he said.

Advantages Listed

He listed the advantages of the team teaching approach as follows:

—Team teaching produces just as good, if not better, results in the educational development of pupils as teachers working singly with regular classes.

—Just as good results in pupils' educational development are produced with a schedule which is modified for more efficient utilization of staff.

—It is economically feasible to use team teaching and schedule modification in the secondary schools.

—The opportunities for varied pertinent learning experiences are provided better in situations using team teaching and schedule modification than in regular classes.

—Team teaching provides for an improved utilization of time, competencies, and morale of teachers.

—An increased opportunity for learning by pupils.

—More efficient use of equipment and mechanical aids for instruction is possible.

—Team teaching is an approach to a greater use of space and facilities in the building.

The team, he pointed out, includes at least one professional teacher, a teacher aid, a clerk, and possibly a student teacher.

The aids will help with clerical duties, records, grades, supervision and routine tasks. The clerks will take care of routine matters such as typing, duplicating, grading, etc., and the student teachers will do specific aspects of the teaching, such as working with smaller groups, and helping with individual study.

The Lincoln High classes organized in this manner include boys and girls health education, with between 86 and 110 pupils enrolled in each; English 3, a 10th grade English television class with 231 pupils; 3 drivers' education classes with between 60 75 pupils enrolled in each; American History by television with 213 pupils, and modern problems with 119 pupils.

Watkins Anticipates Higher Official Total

Figures for the first day of classes in the Lincoln Public Schools presented to the Board of Education Tuesday, showed an enrollment of 24,390, as compared with 23,218 the first day last year.

However, Supt. Steven N. Watkins indicated that he expected the estimated 24,500 to be reached or exceeded by Oct. 7, when official enrollment figures will be released.

He pointed out that General Arnold Elementary School, which opened last year at the Lincoln Air Force Base with 395 students, has reached its capacity to the exact number —840. If more are enrolled they will have to be absorbed in present classes, Dr. Watkins said.

Prof Changes Sodomy Plea, Says Innocent

Thomas Bruce Waters of the Lincoln Hotel pleaded innocent Tuesday in Lancaster District Court to a sodomy charge.

Waters, 54-year-old University of Nebraska associate professor of Philosophy, had pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to the same charge Monday in County Court but entered the new plea when arraigned before District Judge Paul White.

Judge White ordered Waters held for trial and set appearance bond at $3,500.

Waters is charged with having unnatural sexual relations Sept. 10 with a 27-year-old man. The other man involved has pleaded guilty to a sodomy charge and is awaiting sentencing.

Examiner Is Placed At WOW

Grubbs Repeals Earlier 'Auditing'

By Betty Person

State Insurance Director William Grubbs announced Tuesday night that he has again placed a department examiner in the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society at Omaha.

Grubbs said Examiner John Neal "set up office" in the fraternal life insurance society's home office late Tuesday afternoon.

Neal is "presently auditing accounts of the society auditors who audit themselves," Grubbs said.

The director said the examiner also is "looking into the complete internal controls of the society, including the expenses and salaries paid to the officers, as well as other matters."

He also stated that he has received and studied a copy of a report on the insurance society made by a midwestern management consulting firm employed by WOW to make a recommendation on the society's proposals to open a regional office.

'Same Changes'

"It appears to me that they (the consultants) have suggested almost the same changes in the society's operations as recommended by the insurance department," said Grubbs.

"The consulting firm noted the internal struggle for power in the society, and further said that it was endangering the certificate holders," the insurance director added.

Grubbs said he had turned over the consulting firm's report to Assistant Attorney General John Wenstrand.

Grubbs has asked Attorney General C. S. Beck to institute action which would place WOW under court jurisdiction.

Beck said Tuesday that Grubbs' request is still under study.

Radar Units Get Study By Police Before Purchase

The Police Dept. probably will purchase a new radar unit within the next few months, according to Asst. Chief O. L. Graves.

Graves said manufacturers of different types of radar sets, which are used to check speeders, will give demonstrations of their units and then the department will decide which to purchase.

The sets run from about $900 to $1,300 in price and money for a new one was included in the police budget.

Texans Hear Jack Lash Benson, Nixon

Texarkana, Tex. (AP) Sen. John F. Kennedy ended his whirlwind Texas campaign Tuesday with big receptions here and in Dallas.

He used the occasion to attack both Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Dallas Police Chief J. E. Curry estimated 175,000 persons jammed downtown Dallas and Kennedy had almost a full house in memorial auditorium which seats 11,000.

Here in a city which is both Texas and Arkansas and has a population of 50,327, Kennedy drew a crowd put at 100,000 by Police Chief Leon Arnold. But L. E. Gilliland, of the Texarkana Chamber of Commerce, said he thought the crowd was around 65,000. By either estimate, it was a crowd any large city would have been surprised at.

Kennedy was helped here by a 4-state fair plus the presence of an assortment of political bigwigs.

Both Gov. Price Daniel of Texas and Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas were here.

Faubus in one sense is a competitor of Kennedy since the National States Rights party is on the ticket in Arkansas and Faubus is its candidate for president.

Faubus said he is supporting the Kennedy-Johnson ticket but not the Democratic party platform.

Kennedy greeted Faubus briefly and then turned, much more warmly it seemed to reporters, to Sen. J. William Fullbright of Arkansas.

An extremely large percentage of Negroes were mingled in the crowd. Earlier in Kennedy's Texas tour relatively few Negroes turned out.

Since Nixon was in Dallas earlier, everyone was watching to see how his reception compared with Kennedy there.

Nixon drew 100,000, but he came after the lunch hour, whereas Kennedy came in at noon when more were on the street.

One young lady in a yellow dress literally threw herself on Kennedy's white convertible, stretched out to grasp his hand and finally rolled off.

A small boy kept punching Kennedy with a stick trying to get him to turn around.

A man was so enthusiastic in following Kennedy that he was bumped 3 times by a motorcycle policeman. He climed on, trying to keep up with the parade.

The excitement probably was helped by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Kennedy's vice presidential running mate, who acted as unofficial cheer leader. Using his Texas hat, he kept waving to the crowd to come in closer.

Certainly anyone who went with Kennedy down Dallas' Akard Street Tuesday would agree with this: It would be hard to squeeze many more in.

Kennedy dealt with Nixon in Dallas, and saved Benson for Texarkana.

Nixon said Monday, as he has often said before, that the South isn't deserting the Democratic party if it switches to the Republican party. The Democratic party, he said, is deserting the South—and the principles on which it was founded.

Kennedy scoffed at this Tuesday.

He said that he and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, still belong to the party of Jefferson and Jackson.

"There is no question," Kennedy said, 'that the vice-president is in the Republican tradition—Taft, Harding, Landon, Dewey—."

The roar from the crowd drowned him out as he ticked off his list.

At Texarkana, Kennedy turned to Benson.

"Bensonism," Kennedy said in his address, "is one of the great issues of this campaign."

Normally, Kennedy pretty well avoids personalities. But he laid it on Benson, a favorite target for all Democratic orators when they hit the farm belt.

Bensonism, Kennedy said, "sets the two parties apart. It sets the two candidates apart.

"The Republicans stand for Benson and Bensonism.

"Nothing in the constitution said he had to be Secretary of Agriculture."

Reclamation Work Promised By Dick

Boise, Idaho (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon barnstormed the northwest Tuesday with a promise of greater emphasis on starting new multi-purpose reclamation, power and flood control projects.

This was talk of a kind westerners like to hear.

It constituted a rebuttal to the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, who has charged that the Eisenhower administration has been standing still in the hydro-electric field.

More Starts

Nixon was departing, in a measure, from Eisenhower administration policy in saying "the time has come to put greater emphasis on new starts" for many-purpose projects. The administration long had a holddown on these.

Nixon's remarks were contained in speeches at Portland, Ore., and later in Boise.

Nixon picked a new Portland shopping center to skim back over the last 8 years and say:

"At no time in our history have more new water projects been started . . . this Republican record is not, in anybody's language, 'standing still.' And in terms of the worldwide challenge, our lead is tremendous. Soviet electric power production in 1959 was at a level we reached back in 1943 . . . we will maintain our leadership by pushing current projects to rapid completion and by keeping up the pace of the last 8 years."

Busy Day

Nixon was in the midst of a long, busy day on the campaign circuit.

He started off in San Francisco with a breakfast, news conference and dedication of a medical and hospital training ship which soon will embark on a good-will mission to the Orient.

He flew on to Portland, crossed an interstate bridge into Vancouver, Wash., then backtracked to Portland before taking off for a political rally at Boise.

Accepts

At the news conference in his San Francisco hotel, Nixon said he accepts, as he said others should Sen. John F. Kennedy's position that he would not let his Roman Catholic religion dictate in any manner how he would conduct himself as president.

Kennedy told Protestant clergymen at Houston, Tex., Monday he would act in the nation's interest regardless of "outside religious pressures or dictates."

Nixon said Kennedy has stated his position categorically and he accepts and respects it. Each has said religion should have no part in the campaign or in determining its outcome. Nixon was brought up as a Quaker.

Vancouver had flags and several thousand people out along the streets for Nixon. He got waves and scattered applause from them.

Warm Temps Push Crops To Maturity

Some Late Corn In East Expected To Run A Close Race With Frost

Hot, dry weather has pushed Nebraska's corn and milo crops rapidly toward maturing, but some late planted corn in eastern districts is expected to run a close race with frost, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

By last week, more than 55% of the corn was in the dent stage or further advanced and about 6% was rated as mature, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

By and large, the stage of progress is running close to normal, the report said.

Prospects continued to decline in the west where moisture is short, but yields are expected to be high in eastern districts.

Irrigated corn is promising although yields may not quite come up to those of recent years.

"Water needs have been great during the dry, hot weather and irrigation extended over a long period in the central and western counties," the report noted. "Canal water has been short in some places."

Other observations:

Sorghum grain prospects have declined further in the west, and a larger than usual part of the acreage has been cut for forage and silage.

20% Wheat Planted

Around 20% of the winter wheat acreage has been planted, but progress varies because of moisture conditions. Some favored western areas have more than half of the acreage planted and early planted wheat has germinated. However, much acreage has been "dusted in" and some growers are waiting for rain before seeding.

About half of the rye has been planted and fall seedings of legumes are nearly three-fourths finished.

Hot weather had been rough on livestock until recent cool temperatures brought relief.

Pasturage and range feed suffered from hot weather, especially in the west. Late hay ran to light tonnage but early cuttings were heavy.

Good Beet Prospects

Sugar beet prospects continue favorable.

Dry bean yields are turning out a bit lower than expected but quality is good.

Martin, If Elected, Plans Study Of Beef, Veal Imports

Valentine (AP)—A crowd of 300 heard Sen. Carl Curtis, Congress candidate Dave Martin and gubernatorial candidate John Cooper discuss imports and party prospects at a GOP fund raising dinner.

Martin said if he wins he promises a thorough study of mounting beef and veal imports into the U.S., notably from New Zealand, Australia, Ireland and South America, which are "coming into this country at the expense of our cattlemen who ask no artificial price supports from Uncle Sam."

Curtis also spoke of the increasing tonnage of meat imports and the increasing numbers of cattle, sheep and hogs being shipped into the country. He said, "If this is not curbed, the injury will become greater."

Cooper referred to "great complacency" two years ago which he said cost the GOP the governorship, two seats in Congress and the state treasurer's office. This will not be true this year, he said.

Cigar-Smoker Grubbs Heads State's Largest Industry

By Richard Archbold
United Press International

A 33-year-old cigar-smoking man who has been described as a carbon copy of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" heads Nebraska's second largest industry, a position he first thought would be "boring."

The royal sounding tag doesn't bother amiable William Grubbs, Nebraska's director of insurance, who has grabbed a number of headlines recently with two important decisions.

One was the revocation of the insurance license of Edward A. Dosek of Lincoln, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. This helped bring Dosek's withdrawal from the race and saturday the Democratic State Central Committee named Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney to replace Dosek.

The other decision which will have more far-reaching repurcussions affected Woodmen of the World (WOW) Life Insurance Society.

Grubbs has requested Attorney General Clarence S. Beck to start court proceedings against WOW which would seize the more than $220 million in assets of the society.

Made Decisions

Grubbs, a Democrat, made both decisions within two weeks of each other.

"I've lost 15 pounds in the last month," Grubbs grinned. "I've noticed a little tension."

When cases like Dosek and WOW do not trouble Grubbs, his 5-foot, 8 inch frame carries 155 pounds of cold, calculating logic housed in a man dealing with an industry that brought $443,965,308 into Nebraska coffers in 1959, second only to agriculture.

Grubbs said one of his biggest obstacles when appointed by the late Governor Brooks in January, 1959, was proving his "emotional and intellectual maturity" which was questioned because at 31 he was the youngest state insurance director in the nation.

But don't let Grubbs' size, age or high-pitched voice fool you.

Shrewd Intellect

Those dealing with him have discovered he has a shrewd intellect and he will not be pushed or pressured into making decisions.

One high-ranking Republican official had this to say about Grubbs: "There were those who questioned in a silent manner his ability to perform when first appointed. Since that time observers have found that their tongue-in-cheek could be removed. He has made an impressive record."

Grubbs works at his job as though it were a giant game of chess.

"It's like an intellectual chessboard," he said. "I'm fascinated with any contest of the intellect and with the cold technique of logic."

It was "intellectual tension" which Grubbs went through in making the WOW decision, he said.

"My approach to WOW which is thrashing about in a struggle for power must be met with the same skill and caution that a doctor would approach a physically large man in the throes of emotional upheaval," Grubbs said.

The Dosek decision involved a different sort of tension.

'Disturbing'

"What was disturbing from the standpoint here was a man, 62 years old, whose almost entire life had been dedicated to selling insurance and I was depriving him of his livelihood. It was not an easy thing to do. There was a tremendous emotional conflict within me," he said.

But intellectually or emotionally, Grubbs' number one concern in any of his decisions is the policyholder and the public at large. He said he has found that there should be no basic conflict between interests of policyholders and the management of a properly administered insurance company.

Does Grubbs feel pressure in administering his department?

"There is always pressure when people disagree with my decisions," he said.

He said the only effective political pressure could come through the governor's office and this has never happened.

Grubbs was born Oct. 7, 1926 in Kimball. He completed high school in 3 years and entered Colorado University at Boulder just after his 16th birthday.

He was the only student unaffiliated with a Greek letter society to be elected president of the student body at the university since 1914. He received his LLB degree from Colorado in 1949 and opened his own law practice until picked by Brooks to head the state's insurance department.

Headed Bar Assn.

Grubbs was vice-president of the Scottsbluff City Council in 1954 and 1956 and served as president of the Scotts Bluff County Bar Association in 1956.

He belongs to the Masonic Lodge, the American Legion, the Elks and is a member of the Congregational Church.

Married for 15 years to his wife, Esther Mary, Grubbs has 3 children: Lynette, 9; Tanya, 7, and Renee, 5.

Grubbs said his political future, "If I ever had one," has been "somewhat diminished" because in making decisions which affect thousands of people, "you're bound to offend someone."

He said Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank Morrison has never requested him to continue as director nor indicated he would do so.

"I do not propose to initiated any discussion of this with him now or in the future," Grubbs said.

Grubbs' chances to continue if Republican gubernatorial candidate John Cooper is elected are considered nil.

Whatever the case, Grubbs said he will have to be his own boss if asked to stay on.

In typical Grubbs' fashion, the little battler said, "If I felt I were right and they were wrong, my decision would have to prevail."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every time. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key number next to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. One letter simply stands for another, in this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Tongue-Twisters

Notre Dame may have a corner on the "ski" market, but the corps of writers and broadcasters which covers the Nebraska Cornhuskers this fall will have their hands full, too.

Quite a bit of confusion may develop when the galloping commences—when they start keeping track of:

Clay White . . . Bernie Clay . . . Pat Clare.
Or Gary Warden .. . Gene Ward.
And don't forget Pat Fischer . . . Al Fischer . . . and Fred Fisher.

So be patient if your announcer refers to "Ron Canby of Meade, Minn." He'll probably still be trying to find out whether it was Clay or Clay or Fischer or Fischer who was in on the play.

Extra Points

This morning, bright and too early (7:15 a.m.) the Extra Point Club launches its fund-raising drive with a Hotel Cornhusker breakfast.

If you want to help the NU sports program, the group will welcome your buck.

EPC tubthumper Lou Roper passed on the reminder that in 1957 the club helped NU to the tune of $4,500, boosted the figure to $6,000 in 1958 and last year contributed $8,000, as well as $1,000 picked up from the sale of shattered goal posts from the Oklahoma game.

It's for a needy cause—as the recent Husker financial report made quite clear.

Yes, It's Early

Best comment on the early starting of high school football:

"Thank goodness, we've got football season opened—now we can see about opening the schools."

The prep season does seem to be moving toward the 4th of July. For some reason the educators apparently want the pads off before the first frost.

This corner favors a later post-time, both at the prep and college levels. I see nothing particularly wrong about the players checking in with the profs.

Best Of Colonel B.

Floyd Bottorff, now in his 31st season as curator of the Nebraska Cornhuskers' equipment, also rates high in the tall-tale department.

When the "Colonel" learned that a fellow had harnessed a shark to pull his boat, he spun the following yarn:

"That reminds me of the time I raised 25 Canadian geese. When they were big enough I tied them together and had them pull me through the air."

One of the Husker student managers almost stumped Floyd when he queried: "I can see how the guy used a rudder to guide the boat being pulled by a shark, but how did you guide the geese?"

Still the man with the last word, Col. Bottorff retorted:"

"Oh, I forgot to tell you that I had a parrot flying lead."

NU Session Under Arcs

. . . TEXAS GAME IS AT NIGHT

By Don Bryant

Still trying to determine his top 11 players, Coach Bill Jennings ran his Nebraska Cornhuskers through a spirited polishing session at the Lincoln High School Oval Tuesday night.

It was the first drill under lights for the Huskers, who Saturday night open the 1960 season at Texas in an arc-contest.

While the Scarlets were in full gear, there was no contact work.

"We're all through with that," Jennings said. "It's just a matter of applying the finishing touches from here on out."

Jennings indicated he wouldn't announce his starters until Thursday.

"We know who the top 22 will be, but we're still in doubt about 3 or 4 starting positions," he said. "It will just depend."

The Husker coach was sure that two players would miss the trip to Austin.

Two Stay Home

He announced that soph quarterback Dennis Claridge and soph tackle Monte Kiffin would remain in Lincoln.

"Claridge has a knee infection and Kiffin has an ankle injury that isn't responding," Bill said.

However, Claridge wouldn't be making the trip even if he were healthy since he will not be eligible until after the Minnesota game.

Big 8 Conference eligibility rules state: "No student shall be permitted to participate in intercollegiate athletics until one calendar year has elapsed since the time of his matriculation . . ."

Quit Gophers

Claridge, a native of Robbinsdale, Minn., enrolled at the University of Minnesota, then withdrew and enrolled at Nebraska shortly after the Huskers beat the Gophers, 32-12, at Minneapolis.

He will be eligible this fall after the anniversary date of his enrollment at NU.

Extra Point Club Opens Drive Today

The Extra Point Club, University of Nebraska booster group, will open its 1960 campaign at 7:15 a.m., this morning at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Highlighting the Kickoff Breakfast—which is open to the public—will be the apparance of Coach Bill Jennings, his assistants and Husker tri-captains Pat Fischer, Roland McDole and Don Fricke.

Last year the EPC collected $9,000 to help the Cornhusker athletic department.

NICKLAUS IN HOT FIELD

Defending Champ The One To Beat

. . . SIZZLES IN 2ND ROUND

St. Louis (AP)—Young Jackie Nicklaus sensed the challenge of a bunch of birdie-shooting contenders Tuesday answered back with a sizzling 5-under-par show that proved he's still the one to beat in his bid for a second straight National Amateur golf championship.

The defending champion from Ohio State, a 3-steak-a-day gourmet with a delicate putting touch, overpowered Ken Finke of Tucson 4 and 3 in the feature of 64 second round duels that trimmed the bulky field to manageable size for two-a-day competition beginning today.

The crew-cut blond, cheered on by his bride of 6 weeks, had 5 birdies and 10 pars on the 15 holes he played, best scoring in the tournament so far.

Nicklaus, only 19 when he won the title last year, did it while all around him—particularly in his tough second bracket—kids and veterans alike took turns scoffing at par at the sun-browned 6,616-yard, par 35-36—71 St. Louis Country Club course.

6th Hole Hot

Four of his birdies came in a white-hot 6-hole stretch, when he simply overpowered Finke with his drives and demoralized him with his deliberate, smooth putting.

It was a far cry from the kind of scrambling golf—he called it "sleep golf"—he played in edging Jack Donohue of Des Moines one up in the opening round.

"That tough one may have been just what I needed to wake me up."

Awake he'll need to be the way a dozen or more of the survivors playd Tuesday.

Par Busting

Youngsters did a lot of par-busting but rail-thin Charlie Coe, the two-time champion from Oklahoma City; scramblin, Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C.; and former Walker Cup captain Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., also stayed around for at least another day.

Coe, who had a first round bye, shot a 74 in beating D. A. Traynham of Greenville, S.C., 1 up with a par 4 to his opponent's bogie 5 on the 18th.

Patton, who bounces back and forth between rough and fairway like a tacking boat, was 4 over par in eliminating H. H. Haverstick of Lancaster, Pa., 2 and 1.

Campbell rammed into a 4-up lead on the first 9 and crushed Jim Hoak of Des Moines 6 and 5.

Aaron In Rout

Tommy Aaron, the Western Amateur champion from Gainesville, Ga., was even par for 13 holes in routing Hugh Burchfiel of St. Louis, 7 and 5.

—WHITE SOX TOP NATS—

Chicago Edges Closer To Top

Chicago (AP)—Nellie Fox' home run in the last of the 11th inning gave the Chicago White Sox a 6-5 victory over Washington Tuesday night and ran their winning streak to 6 games.

Fox' homer—his second of the season—pushed the Sox back into serious contention for the American League pennant and supplemented an excellent job of relief pitching by Frank Baumann.

Only the previous inning, Chicago loaded the bases with none out and failed to score as Joe Ginsburg hit into a double play and Jim Landis flied out to end what could have been the game winning rally.

Washington scored a run in the second inning on Billy Gardner's double and a single by Bob Allison and made it 2-0 in the 4th when Allison slammed his 14th homer into the left field stands.

With one out in the fourth, Nellie Fox singled for the first hit off starter Pedro Ramos and Al Smith drew a walk. Roy Sievers then pushed a single into left to score Fox.

The White Sox went ahead 3-2 with a pair in the 6th. With a count of 3-2 on Sievers, Ramos tossed a wild pitch, and Fox scored as Smith went all the way to 3rd. Minnie Minoso hit a sacrifice fly to put Chicago in front.

The lead didn't last long. Russ Kemmerer, working in relief of starter Bob Shaw, walked pinch batter Elmer Valo. Kemmerer retired the next two batters before Harmon Killebrew slammed his 30th homer, putting the Senators in front 4-3 in the top of the 7th.

Chicago went right out in front in the bottom of the 7th on Ted Kluszewski's two-run pinch single, but Washington tied it in the top of the 8th on singles by Reno Bertoia and Gardner and Hal Naragon's sacrifice fly.

Kansas City Tightens Race By Belting Yanks

. . . ONLY TWO GAMES SEPARATE TOP THREE

Kansas City (AP) — The last place Kansas City Athletics pulled the door mat from under the New York Yankees Tuesday night, drubbing the American League leaders 12-3 as Bud Daley pitched his 15th victory of the season.

Dick Williams was the Athletics' batting star driving in 6 runs with a home run, double and single.

Despite their loss, the Yankees retained a one game lead over the Baltimore Orioles, who dropped a 3-1 decision to Detroit. Third place, Chicago, however, pulled up within two games by beating Washington 6-5.

The Athletics treated starter Whitey Ford rudely, scoring 3 runs in the first inning as Williams socked his homer with two on base.

Ford retired for a pinch hitter in the second, saddled with defeat No. 9. He has won the same number.

Lost Control

Daley lost control momentarily in the second inning and it cost him a run as Gil McDougald's single followed bases on balls to Cletis Boyer and Tony Kubek.

Boyer's solo home run in the 4th inning brought the New Yorkers within one run at 3-2 before the A's exploded for 4 more in the 5th and still another 4 in the 7th.

Andy Carey's triple, on which Hec Lopez attempted a shoe string catch, started the 4th inning fireworks off reliever Bill Stafford.

Pete Daley's single and a walk to Bill Tuttle ended Stafford's tenure as manager Casey Stengel waved in Louis Arroyo. Arroyo walked two more, forcing in a run before handyman Williams knocked in another pair with a single.

Arroyo walked 3 more in the 7th and Hank Bauer, Carey and Williams all hit run scoring doubles.

—PIRATES FALL, 6-3—

13 Strikeouts Give SF Win

Pittsburgh (AP) — Southpaw Mike McCormick struck out 13 batters and picked up his 13th victory Tuesday in a 6-3 San Francisco victory over pennant-bound Pittsburgh.

McCormick survived a 10-hit attack in going the distance. He's lost 11 games.

His teammates backed McCormick with a 12-hit assault in the last game of the season between the two teams.

Wilmer Mizell started for the Pirates and was in a 1-1 battle until the 6th inning when the Giants scored 3 runs.

Mize was followed to the mound by Clem Labine and Roy Face. The Giants' last two runs came off Face in the 9th.

The 3-run rally for the Giants in the 6th started when Willie Mays tripled and scored on a wild pitch by Mizell. Then after Felipe Alou doubled into the left field corner, Mizell intentionally walked Orlando Cepeda and gave a free pass to Willie Kirkland.

Ed Bressoud then singled up the middle, scoring Alou and Cepeda.

The Pirates made it close in the 7th on Gino Cimoli's 3rd single of the game and Roberto Clemente's 15th home run. The two runs batted in gave Clemente a team-leading total of 91 for the season.

—1ST NEBRASKA HOME FOE HAS 5 FULLBACKS IN LINE—

Gophers Shift For More Speed

Minneapolis (AP)—In an effort to get more speed on the line, Minnesota has converted 5 sophomore fullbacks into tackles or ends—a move expected to wheel the Gophers toward the first division in the 1960 Big 10 football race.

"The key to our success is whether these shifts can be made effectively fast enough," says coach Murray Warmath, whose 1959 team finished in the Big 10 cellar with a 1-6 record.

"Another question is if our quarterbacking has improved enough to play winning football."

15 Regulars

Warmath has 20 lettermen, 15 of them starters or regulars last fall. Despite this experience, two sophomores appear likely to break into the first lineup by time of the season opener at Nebraska Sept. 24 and others must be fitted into the line under the two platoon system to provide that added speed.

Topping the rookie backs is Bill Munsey at right half—a 5-11, 192-pounder from Uniontown, Pa.

Munsey must win the No. 1 spot from senior Bill Kauth.

The best sophomore lineman is Bob Bell at left tackle. He stands 6-4, weighs 216 and was a high school fullback at Shelby, N.C.

Bell is among the 5 newcomers who were prep fullbacks but now are linemen. The others are ends John Campbell, 195, Wadena, Minn., and Bob Prawdzik, 205, Berwyn, Ill.; and tackles Ron Ottoson, 204, Red Wing, Minn., and Pete Bergman, 220, Duluth.

3 Vet Quarterbacks

"We have 3 veteran quarterbacks and if I could tie them all up together, I would have one pretty good quarterback," says Warmath.

"Sandy Stephens, No. 1, is quick on his feet but so far is a thrower instead of a passer. Larry Johnson is a drop-back type of passer but is only a little more accurate than Stephens. Johnson had 7 interceptions in conference games last year and Stephens 10.

"Our 3rd man in this position is Joe Salem. He is a deceptive ball handler and has a quick mind."

No. 1 fullback is Roger Hagberg, backed by two other seniors—Tom Robbins, the Big 10's leading punter in 1959, and Jim Rogers.

Manning guard spots are lettermen Robin Tellor, 22, and Tom Brown, a 238-pound senior candidate for All-America honors. Captain Greg Larson is at center and Frank Brixius, 262-pound senior, is an anchor man at tackle.

Hall Presses

At end are senior Dick Larson and junior Bob Deegan. Pressing them is Tom Hall, who snared 22 passes against Big 10 clubs for 322 yards last year as a sophomore.

Board Will Study Local Broadcasts

Lincoln's Board of Education has scheduled a special meeting Friday morning to study a change in its present policy of prohibiting broadcasts of local athletic home games.

Currently, only out-of-town stations are permitted to broadcast the games back to their local communities.

Richard W. Chapin, executive vice president of Lincoln radio KFOR, appeared before the board Tuesday requesting permission for local stations to broadcast the Lincoln games.

The board said its present policy established in 1954, was laid down because broadcasters had emphasized poor sportsmanship and created a decline in crowds at the games.

Chapin indicated he would be willing to stay within the limits of current policy, should the broadcasts be reinstated.

Spencer's Rap Drops Braves

...CARDS PREVAIL IN 11TH

St. Louis (AP) — Daryl Spencer's triple in the 11th inning scored Ken Boyer and gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-5 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday night.

Boyer singled to set the stage for Spencer. Both blows came off Lew Burdette, the 4th Braves pitcher who absorbed his 11th defeat to go with 16 victories.

Ernie Broglio, who relieved in the 8th inning, picked up the victory. It gave him a 19-7 mark.

Stan Musial, who hit his 16th home run to even the game with Bill White aboard in the 8th, created the opportunity.

The Braves had a 5-3 lead at that time.

The nip-and tuck battle was tied 3 times.

It was 3-3 when Hank Aaron singled with the bases loaded in the 7th to make it 4-3 and Johnny Logan's 7th homer in the 8th set the scene for Musial.

Victory gave the Cards a full game edge over the Braves in the battle for second place in the National League. The Cards trail Pittsburgh by 6½.

A crowd of 12,128 boosted the Cards' home attendance to 1,005,248. It was the 11th time in the past 15 years the Redbirds drew more than a million.

Bums Notch Twin Killing

Philadelphia (AP)— The Los Angeles Dodgers took both ends of a twi-night doubleheader Tuesday night from the Philadelphia Phillies, winning the opener 2-1 in 10 innings for Johnny Podres and the nightcap 4-1 behind Sandy Koufax at Connie Mack stadium.

The Dodgers beat Gene Conley in the overtime first game when Phillies' second baseman Tony Taylor, going for a double play, dropped the ball to let rookie Charley Smith score from 3rd base in the 10th inning.

Art Mahaffey, the Phillies' rookie righthander, suffered his second defeat in 7 decisions as southpaw Koufax bested him in a duel of 5-hitters.

Rookie Willie Davis clouted a home run and double for the Dodgers.

The Dodgers tied the score at 1-1 in the second inning of the nightcap when Ron Fairly tripled and scored on a wild pitch.

Los Angeles went ahead to stay in the 3rd with a run on a walk, a sacrifice and Maury Wills' double.

STUDS SUPERB

Pierre, S. D. (AP)—An 8-run explosion in the first inning brought the Seattle, Wash., Cheney Studs a 10-2 victory over Denver in the opener of the American Baseball Congress' northwest playoff.

TRANSFERS BOOST OMAHA

Duane Salak (left), transfer from the University of Nebraska and Paul Blazevich, a junior college All-American from Wall, Pa., will be the only two non-lettermen in the starting 11 as Omaha University travels to Sioux City Thursday night for its 1960 football opener with Morningside. Salak, a 200-pound sophomore, starts at left guard while Blazevich, 197-pound junior, gets the left end berth. Omaha bids to improve last year's 1-7 record with better speed and experience under new coach Al Caniglia. Morningside won its opener 33-0 over Wayne (Neb.) State.

Newk's Relief Chore Chokes Red Sox, 5-3

Cleveland (AP)—Big Don Newcombe blanked the Boston Red Sox on 5 hits after entering the game in the 4th inning as a reliever Tuesday night when Cleveland beat the Boston Red Sox 5-3.

Rain delayed the start of the game an hour and 5 minutes. Ted Williams was given a gold clock by the Indians in a pre-game ceremony, but was not in the starting lineup.

He entered the game in a 3-run Boston rally against Dick Stigman in the 4th as a pinch hitter and drew a walk that forced in the final run.

Singles by Walter Bond, Vic Power and Stigman and a double by John Romano produced 4 Cleveland runs in the second inning off loser Tom Brewer.

St. Louis Team Nabs U.S. Doubles Crown

Chicago (AP)—Ray Bluth and Dick Weber of St. Louis won the National Men's Doubles bowling championship Tuesday night and a $2,000 first prize.

Bluth and Weber, winners of the title in 1956, paced the field of 8 teams into the final two days' rolling after two days of qualifying at the Strike 'N Spare Bowling Lanes in suburban Northbrook.

Nineteen thousand dollars in prize money was the lure spread over the 4 days of bowling.

Bluth and Weber won 21 games and lost 11 and garnered a Petersen point total of 158.15.

Second place was won by Billy Welu and Harry Smith of St. Louis with 154.74. Third went to Carmen Salvino and Bill Bunetta of Chicago with 151.22.

In the final block of games, Bluth rolled a 288 game, highest individual effort of the final round. He rolled 10 straight strikes and left the 4-7 standing on his 11th, losing a chance for a 300 game.

Under the Petersen scoring system, a team earns a point for each game won and one point for each 100 pins knocked down.

Sacrifice Fly Hikes Cincy Over Bruins

Cincinnati, (AP)— Frank Robinson sprinted home on a sacrifice fly Tuesday with the deciding run in a 8-6 Cincinnati victory over Chicago.

Chicago had caught up, 6-6, in the 6th when Frank Thomas doubled in Ron Santo and scored on a forceout.

Eddie Kasko's grand slam home run in the 5th and Gordie Coleman's two-run homer in the second headed the Reds' early effort.

Rookie Dan Murphy drove in 3 runs with his first big league homer in the 5th for Chicago. Teammate George Altman homered in the 4th.

Stocks Dull; Aircrafts Up

New York (AP) — An advance by aircrafts helped give a dull and irregular stock market a slight edge to the upside Tuesday.

Volume remained at a slack 2.18 million shares compared with Monday's 2.16 million.

Extreme caution continued to reign as the list remained lurking not far above the "triple bottom" which has supported prices three times previously in 1960. No spark came from business news to prompt buying except for the aircrafts which responded to news of contracts. Some of these were bought actively.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.44 to 611.79. The "triple bottom" in the Dow is in the area of 600.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .30 to 217.00 with the industrials up .30, the rails down .19 to another new low for the year and the utilities up .40.

Of 1,198 issues traded gainers had a narrow squeak over losers, to the tune of 493 to 453. New highs for the year totaled 24 and new lows 38.

American Stock Exchange prices also moved a bit higher on balance. Volume was 87,000 shares compared with Monday's 1.11 million.

U.S. government bonds were mixed in slow trading over the counter.

Corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange rose to $3.41 million, well ahead of Monday's abnormally low turnover of $3.00 million.

Grain Advances Led By Soybeans

Chicago (AP) — Export accounts and short covering stiffened the grain futures market Tuesday with some commodities more than wiping out their losses of the previous session.

Wheat and soybeans led the advances with most contracts up major fractions of a cent. Other grains were steady to firm in a slow and meager trade.

September wheat was the best performer. It was ahead 1½ cents at its best on buying described as short covering and hedge lifting linked with the heavy volume of export business late last week. At the same time, there was a fairly active demand toward covering additional foreign business overnight.

At the close, wheat was ½-1⅛ cents a bushel higher, September 1.87⅜; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, September 1.14¼; oats unchaneed to ½ higher, September 64¾; rye ½-⅝ higher, September 1.14⅛; soybeans ½-¾ higher, September 2.15-15⅛.

DEMOS WIN 'GREETING TEST' IN DALLAS

Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy greets some of the estimated 175,000 Dallas, Tex., admirers who turned out to cheer him and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Tuesday. The crowd for the Democrats topped by 75,000 the number of greeters that hailed Republican nominee Richard Nixon the day before.

Burney Busy With Briefings, Continues Highway Meetings

Governor Dwight Burney made his first public appearance Tuesday as Nebraska's chief executive at a luncheon in Lincoln commemorating the centennial anniversary of the birth of General John J. Pershing.

Burney later went to Kearney to make an appearance at the Buffalo County Republican fund raising dinner honoring Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The governor's office Tuesday was a scene of bi-partisan cooperation as the late Governor Ralph Brooks' administrative assistant, Robert Conrad, a Democrat, briefed his new counterpart, Republican John Beaver, on office procedures.

Procedures Discussed

Conrad discussed with both Burney and Beaver duties of the office and procedures involved in handling correspondence and other paper work.

Conrad said the job of acquainting Burney and Beaver with the office should be completed in two or three days and perhaps sooner.

He said a schedule of activities to which the Governor's Office had been previously committed was being prepared for the remainder of September. It includes meetings of state boards and commissions, and various appearances.

Meetings OKd

One of Burney's first official acts was to authorize continuance of the informational meetings conducted by the Highway Advisory Commission. The meetings were initiated by Gov. Brooks.

Burney said he plans to attend the remaining 5 meetings or send a representative.

Governor Brooks' secretary, Mrs. Evelyn O'Connor of Mccook, was busy helping in the transition, as was Mrs. Sally Gordon.

Mrs. Donna Nelson, Governor Burney's secretary, was on duty also. Mrs. Nelson previously served Governors Val Peterson, Robert Crosby and Victor Anderson.

Pioneer Corp. Discusses 2 Finance Plans

Two methods of financing the Pioneer Housing Corporation's apartment house for elderly persons were discussed at the group's annual meeting Tuesday.

W. A. Rosene, president of the corporation, outlined a possible alternative plan to finance the apartment at 12th and H under a 1959 federal law providing 2½% interest funds for housing for elderly persons.

Another meeting of the group was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the YWCA to hear further details of the financing plan from Frank Heinisch of Omaha, executive secretary of the Omaha Education Assn., who has been active in Omaha's elderly housing projects.

Alternate Plans

Under the financial plan earlier considered by the Pioneer Housing group, apartment dwellers would own their equity in their apartment, but under the new plan which features lower financing costs, and thus lower monthly payments, only a portion of the original payments would be returned to the apartment owners' estates.

The group also re-elected 3 board members whose terms had expired. They were W. A. Rosene, Selma Hult and Laurence Tyler.

4 POLIO CASES BRING STATE TOTAL TO 10

Four cases of polio were reported in Nebraska last week bringing the year's total to 10, the State Department of Health said Tuesday.

Two cases were paralytic involving a 34-year-old female from Morrill County who had been vaccinated and a 17-year-old male from Merrick County who had not been vaccinated.

Two 19-year-old males from Scotts Bluff County contracted non-paralytic polio. Both had been vaccinated.

Last year at this time there were 96 polio cases reported.

The health department said two rabies cases were submitted, one a skunk in Scotts Bluff County and the other a pig in Madison County.

Rabies cases for the year totaled 34, the same number at this time last year.

Completion Of Project Ends 7-Year Dream

. . . Watershed Plan

By Glenn Kreuscher
Farm Editor

Syracuse — Dedication ceremonies were held here Tuesday for the 16,000-acre Brownell Creek watershed protection and flood prevention project.

A 7-year dream of stabilizing watershed runoff that has caused damaging floods and loss of land has been realized with the completion of 9 flood water retardation structures and 37 grade stabilization projects.

"Co-operation from landowners, city residents, the Soil Conservation Service and everyone who could help made this possible," said William Davis of Syracuse, one of the local enthusiasts who watched an idea become a reality.

Where former gullies were cutting devastation and bare hillsides were evidence of erosion, the Brownell area was a vastly changed landscape for tour and inspection following the dedication.

Farm ponds and flood water stabilization structures dot the landscape, holding keep much of the water on the land instead of letting it bite a fast rushing path to the rivers.

An important feature toward producing high yielding crops on the bordering farm land is almost a 100% completion of land treatment measures on individual farms.

The day's activities started with a lunch served at the Lutheran Memorial Church.

William Richards of Orleans, president of the National Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts, and Stanley Matzke of Hastings, assistant manager of Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, complimented residents of Otoe County on completion of what they termed one of Nebraska's finest watershed projects.

Politics Will Not Be Basis Of Decisions—Meyer

Grand Island (AP)—Clarence Meyer said Tuesday that if he is elected attorney general, he will not base any of his decisions on political considerations.

It is not the function of the attorney general to interpret the laws so that a particular political party can carry out a program which party leaders might believe best for the state, the Republican candidate declared at a meeting sponsored by the Hall County GOP Women's Club.

"The only program which should be carried out is the program laid down by the people which should be carried out by the people of Nebraska through the legislature." said Meyer, presentiy deputy attorney general.

"Proper enforcement of a poor law will being out its weaknesses," Meyer said. "Only the people acting through their representatives are able to change laws, and enforcement or lack of enforcement is not a matter for possible political advantage."

$1.7 Million For Ainsworth Work

Washington (AP) — The Interior Department said it will use $1.7 million of newly appropriated funds to resume work on the Ainsworth Irrigation project in Nebraska.

The project has been brought up to the construction stage with a $1.1 million appropriation in 1958. But in the face of controversy over the project in Nebraska, Congress withheld funds last year.

The $26 million project will provide irrigation for 33,900 acres in Brown and Rock Counties.

The new funds will permit start of construction of Merrit Dam on the Snake River and a 26 mile access road from Valentine.

The Interior Department said the money appropriated by the recent Congress also will permit construction starts on 5 new Reclamation Bureau projects.

The 5 projects on which construction is to be started and the amount programmed for each include:

Florida participating project of the Colorado River storage project, in Colorado, $750,000.

Blue Mesa facilities of the Curecanti unit of the Colorado River storage project, also in Colorado, $1,400,000.

Yellowtail unit, Missouri River Basin project, in Montana-Wyoming, $2.5 million.

Almena unit, Missouri River Basin project, in Kansas, $1 million.

Gibbon Youth Car Theft Plea Is Not Guilty

LeRoy M. Jackson, 17, of Gibbon, who was involved in a 23-block chase by a police cruiser Sept. 8, pleaded innocent Tuesday in County Court to an auto theft charge.

Police said Jackson had admitted being the driver of a stolen car which led Lt. St. Paul (AP)—The temporary president of the Loup Valley United Chambers of Commerce says that group is already making progress on one of its aims, road improvement.

Retired District Judge William F. Spikes said he wrote Chairman J. R. McBride of the Governor's Advisory Highway Commission for an opportunity for Loup Valley residents to detail their highway needs.

McBride replied that representatives of 6 counties could be heard when the commission holds a hearing in Grand Island Sept. 27. The other two, Loup and Garfield, can be heard at a similar hearing in Ainsworth for which a new date has not been set, he said.

"The Woman Behind the Man"

MRS. RICHARD M. NIXON

Watch for the intimate five-part series on Jacqueline Kennedy, beginning Monday, September 19th

Starting Monday, September 26th an inspiring five-part series on Pat Nixon

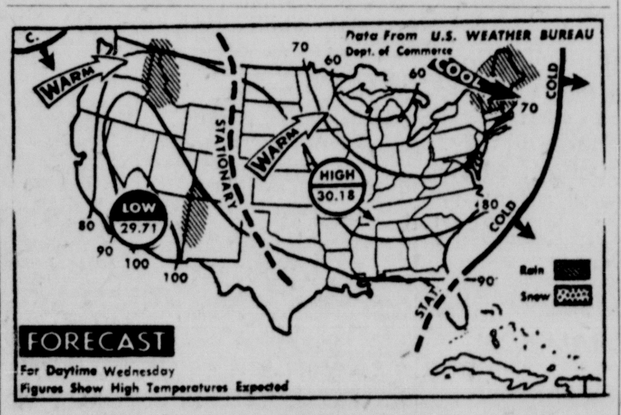

Both of these features are written by experienced and highly successful authors. Mary Cremmen, a personal friend of Jackie Kennedy, tells the story of a devoted wife and mother. It is, too, the story of an unusual combination—glamour and intelligence.

The story of Pat Nixon, also a young and charming lady, is the story of a self-made woman who has captured friends wherever she has gone.

You will know the next First Lady of the Land better than you know your next-door neighbor, by reading "The Woman Behind The Man" in

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID'S unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! Introductory size 43¢.

Change In State Post Is Urged

James Delehant, superintendent of state buildings and grounds, has recommended that his position be placed under the Nebraska State Capitol Building Commission and taken away from appointment by the governor.

Delehant submitted the recommendation to the commission as part of his report containing improvements he has made at the Capitol since his appointment by the late Gov. Ralph Brooks in January 1959.

Delehant said his reason for wanting the post under the commission was to avoid having the office "used as a political football."

"Many men have been appointed as superintendents without any qualifications or desire or intentions of carrying out the duties of this office," Delehant said.

"Prior to this administration (Governor Brooks') the office that I hold had almost continuously been used as a political football."

Callan Makes Move For Senate Nomination

By Don Walton

Clair Callan Tuesday wired members of the Democratic state central committee asking their support for the U.S. Senate nomination.

Callan ran second to the late Gov. Ralph Brooks in a 4-man Democratic primary struggle for the nomination last May.

The central committee will select a new nominee to succeed Gov. Brooks Thursday night at Grand Island.

Callan, Odell implement dealer and farm operator, told The Star he is an "active candidate" for the post.

The 39-year-old Democrat wired committee members that he believes he can defeat Republican Sen. Carl Curtis in the November election.

Callan also said that he believes his name would be of help to the Nebraska Democratic ticket.

Carried 34

In the May primary, Callan noted, he carried 34 counties, including populous Lancaster, Hall, Buffalo, Adams, Lincoln and Gage.

Callan won 23 of the 26 counties in the First Congressional District, he pointed out.

The Democrat was a candidate for the First District congressional nomination in 1956, and his party's nominee for the seat in 1958.

Gain Support

"We're picking up support," Callan noted.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Hans Jensen of Aurora reported Tuesday it appears "hopeless" that he could be eligible for the nomination.

Jensen, candidate for reelection to the Legislature, did not withdraw from that race prior to last Friday's 5 p.m. deadline for declination of nomination, thus making him ineligible to seek a second spot on the ballot.

The Aurora senator had sought legal advice on the possibility that he could simply resign from the Legislature since he is the only candidate in the 25th District.

He reported Tuesday night that he had been advised by Deputy Attorney General Clarence Meyer that this could not be done.

Supports Callan

Since he is ineligible himself, Jensen said he would support Callan for the post.

"If the state central committee appoints him, I'll certainly support him," Jensen said.

Asked if he would attempt to get the committee behind Callan, Jensen said he would "like to stay clear of c versy," but thought Callan would get committee support "because of the strong showing he made in the primary."

He said "Callan's understanding of the position of the "like to stay clear of contro- Nebraska farmer caused by lower farm prices and lower farm purchasing power, the lot of the small businessmen as the result of the $100 million drop in this purchasing power, and his vote-getting record" were reasons he would support Callan.

It still appeared Tuesday, however, that Robert Conrad, administrative assistant to the late Governor Brooks, had the strongest party support for the nomination.

There was support as well for State Agricultural Director Pearle Finigan, and also for the governor's widow, Mrs. Darleene Brooks.

Another name entered the speculation Tuesday — that of Alvin N. Scissors, Brooks' appointee as director of the State Motor Vehicle Department.

Baker Throws Support To Clair Callan

Omaha (UPI) —Al Baker, Omaha, runnerup behind Clair Callan and the late Governor Brooks for Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, Tuesday night threw his full support behind Clair Callan for the appointment of nominee.

Baker called on the State Central Committee in a letter to State Democratic Chairman Russell Hanson to respect the vote of the people and pointed out that the voters had placed Callan a strong second in the primary race.

As the candidate just behind Callan, Baker said he had polled over 15,000 votes and would do everything within his power to elect Callan if he were to be nominated.

Baker added that he was a lifelong resident of Omaha and that having been active in many civic organizations, he has a number of friends and supporters who are registered Republicans but who feel that Callan would make an oustanding U.S. senator.

He praised the central committee for selecting Norman Otto as candidate for lieutenant governor — "since he is qualified and was the runnerup, the same as Callan."

Ronin To Speak At DAR Meeting

Judge Herbert A. Ronin will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Nebraska Division of the Daughters of American Revolution in Lincoln Thursday.

Fifty DAR members from Lincoln and Beatrice are expected to attend the meeting hosted by Deborah Avery Chapter, Lincoln.

Whelan Aims Campaign At Weaver Home

Gerald T. Whelan, first congressional district nominee, carried his campaign this week into his opponent's home ground.

Whelan left Hastings on an extensive week-long tour of the four counties in the Eastern corner of the district which includes Richardson County, and incumbent Phil Weaver's home town.

"I have never conceded anything in my life," Whelan said, "and I am not going to concede Phil Weaver's home town to him."

Whelan will campaign this week in Nemaha, Pawnee, Johnson and Richardson Counties. He planned extended visits to the Humboldt Fair and on Thursday will address the Democratic Ladies of Nemaha County at the Auburn Hotel.

Volunteers for Whelan in the area have arranged a series of receptions and coffees.

"It looks like a big, productive week," Whelan said.

'Operation Bootstraps' To Open Today

"Operation Bootstraps," a statewide educational campaign to back the Industrial Development Amendment which will be on the November ballot, will be launched Wednesday in Hastings.

Nathan J. Gold, chairman of the Nebraska Resources Foundation Inc., will moderate the 1:30 p.m. meeting slated for the Clarke Hotel.

Speakers will include Clarence Meyer, state deputy attorney general; Frank Morrison and John Cooper, gubernatorial candidates; E. F. Frolik, dean of the University of Nebraska ag college, and state businessmen.

Representatives of labor and women's organizations will also be included in the program.

"If the industrial development amendment passes Nov. 8, it will enable Nebraska communities to lift themselves up by their own bootstraps toward continuing and increasing economic expansion," Gold said.

"If the amendment fails, it would be better that it had never been proposed, because our competing sister states will then say the defeat indicates that Nebraska is not interested in attracting new industry — which is certainly not the case," he added.
